Life on the Hill

"But bid life seize the present?

It lives less in present
Than in the future always,
And less in both together than in the past. The present
Is too much for the senses,
Too crowding, too confusing-
Too present to imagine."

Robert Frost,
"Carpe Diem"

Students pack the house
on a Friday night.

The Bell

"There can be no progress (real, that is, moral) except in the individual and by the individual himself."

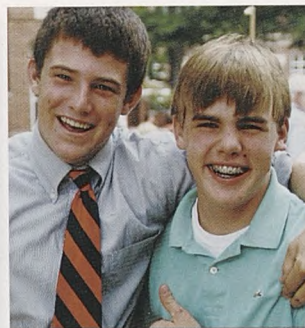

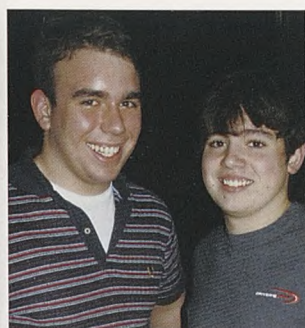

--Charles Baudelaire

"Nothing ever succeeds which exuberance and spirits have not helped to produce."

Faces in the Crowd

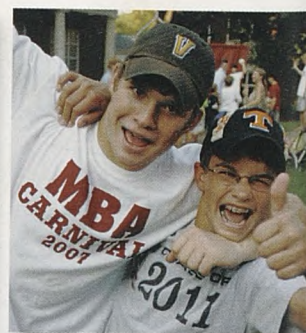

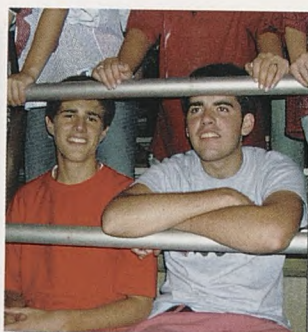

Above: Edward tells us why people join clubs at the activity fair.

Above: Somebody's got a little Captain in them.

Right: Clay and Nick show off their skills with the ladies.

"I said that people never change their lives, that in any case one life was as good as another and that I wasn't dissatisfied with mine here at all."

--Albert Camus, The Stranger

Left: A daily pit stop at Kit the candy lady

Academics

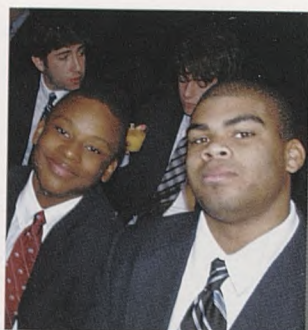

"The office of the scholar is to cheer, to raise, and to guide men by showing them facts amidst appearances . . .

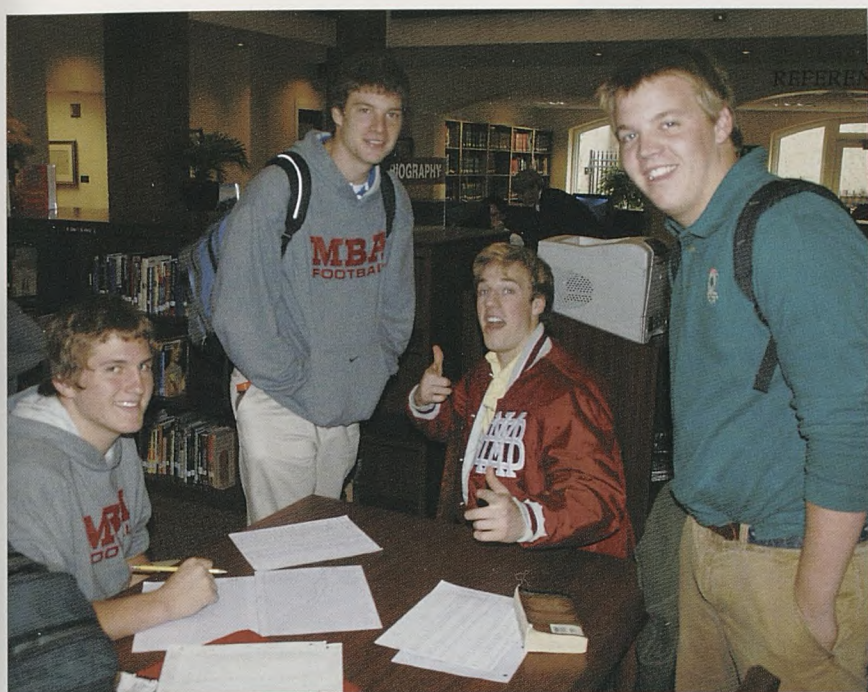

But he, in his private observatory, cataloguing obscure and nebulous stars of the human mind, which as yet no man has thought of as such - watching for days and months sometimes for new facts; correcting still his old records; must relinquish display and immediate fame."

Ralph Waldo Emerson

Left: As if Sloan's signature thumb's up wasn't enough, he decided to throw in an extra pistol on top.

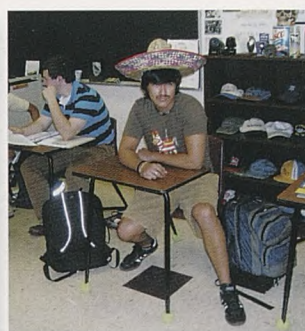

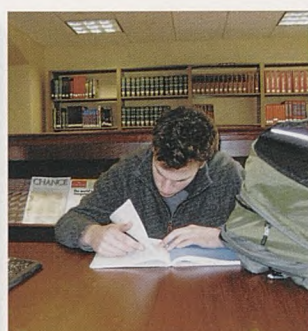

Below: Corey's getting it done in the quad.

Faculty Life

Below: Dr. Clark teaches a student why most people don't star gaze in the middle of the day.

Above: Does Mrs. Tillman know what you've been doing on the weekends?

“And still they gazed and still the wonder grew, that one small head could carry all he knew.”

Oliver Goldsmith,
“The Deserted Village”

Above: Little did Dr. Cassel know that someone put a tack on his seat. I think he hit a high C.

Big Red Spirit

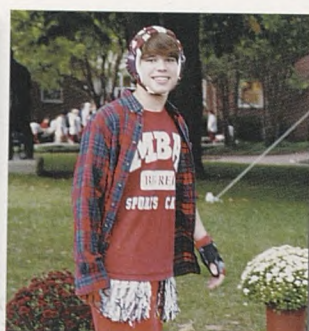

"A pandemonium of enthusiasm rips the air and destroys the eardrums and vocal cords. It is a veritable volcano of enthusiasm, and it is in no way lessened or abated by the generally known fact that the spontaneous eruption is rehearsed . . . and the odd thing is that, although the technique is cut and dried, the enthusiasm is genuine."

John Steinbeck

Above: They might have spirit, but we all know they just want to walk around with their shirts off.

Left: Ben and Brandon remind us, once again, that we're number one in the state of Tennessee.

Above: Austin proves that even the Valedictorian knows how to get a little rowdy.

Below: Hey Barton, it's Big Red, not Bog Red. You'll learn.

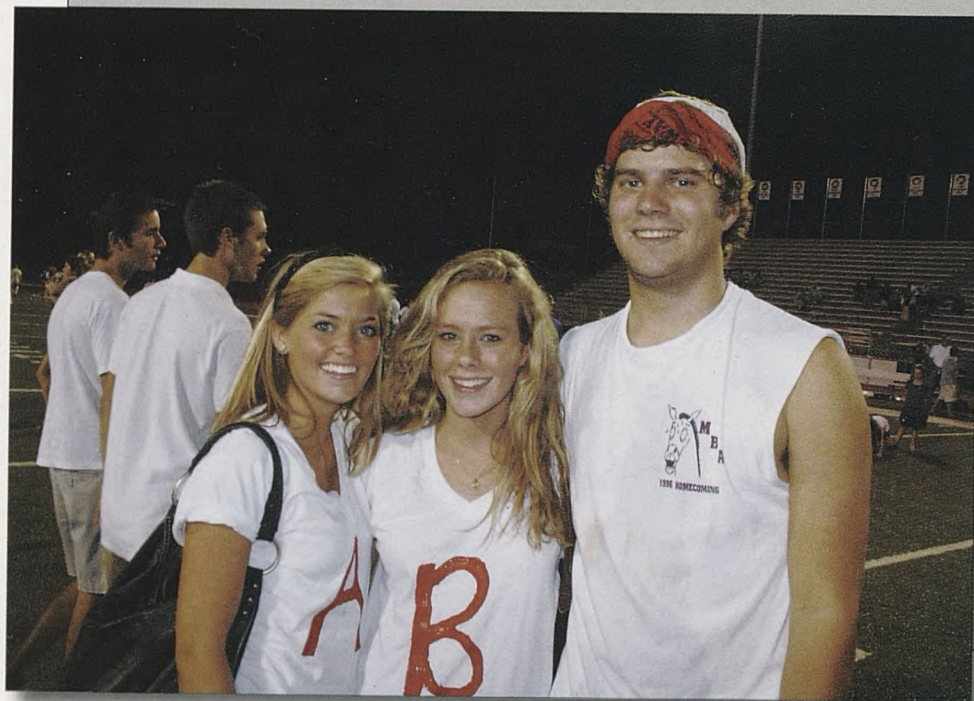

Big Red Seniors

"I want to stand as close to the edge as I can without going over. Out on the edge you see all the kinds of things you can't see from the center."

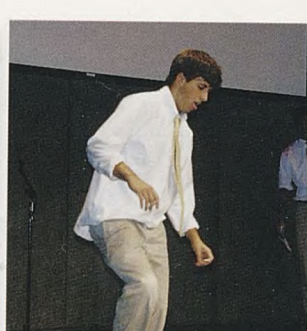

Kurt Vonnegut

Below: Schulman playin' the sax.

To all my friends and classmates: Thanks for all the great memories we had together. Y'all have helped make these last four years the best ones of my life.

Mom and Dad: Thank you for all your love and support. Thank you for giving me the opportunity to go to MBA. Thank you for always being there for me. I know at times I did not show it, but I could not ask for better parents, and I am very grateful. I, however, still strongly believe I was right in every argument we had.

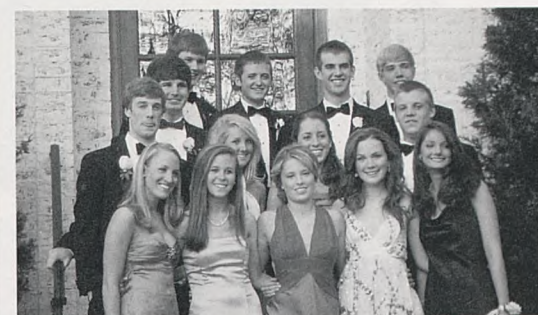

Sara: I'm sorry for the hard times and downright mean things I did to you. Don't worry though you will thank me one day because it made you tougher. Enjoy the next 3 years of high school because they are the best years of your life. Remember, all mom and dad's attention will be focused on you so be careful.

To all the faculty and staff that touched me in some way, Thank You! These six years on the Hill were incredible, and I owe most of it to y'all. Thank you for all your time and effort in helping me become a better student and a better individual. Thank you Mr. Klausner and the college counseling office for your hard work and care you showed towards me. Thank you for everything you did to help me get into college. Go dawgs!

I want to especially thank Mr. Kelly. You were my golf coach for five years but more importantly you were a friend and someone I could look up to. You were supportive and still believed in me when I had abandoned all hope. You helped make me a tougher individual. I am sorry for the damage and embarrassment I caused you in Chattanooga, but you have to admit, it was funny.

MBA is a very special place, and I could not be more grateful for the wonderful opportunities and experiences I had. I know MBA will have a lasting impact on me the rest of my life.

RIP Alexander and Austin. I love y'all and will never forget you.

To my teachers: I thank you. I thank you for everything... for helping me, for befriending, for putting up with me and making me who I've become today. Although at times, I questioned you, at times I questioned myself. But, no matter what I thought I knew and knew I didn't know, all of you were there to make sure I made it through. Thank you, first and foremost, to Dr. Fuller, my advisor, my teacher, my close friend, you always understood where I was coming from even if what I was saying didn't even make sense. Mr. Morisson, you saw the spark in me that gave me the motivation to turn that spark into the passion for theater that I have today. If not for you, I would never have found this love for acting. Madame O'Connell, you have always seen the best in me over these past two years even when I didn't believe that there was a best to see. I'll never forget the compassion you have shown to me even when I was down and out. To everyone who told me not to walk on the grass or tuck in my shirt or shave or cut my hair, I begrudged you then only to realize now that thanks is most definitely due. Thanks to everyone, this journey is something I will never forget.

To my friends: This was truly something to witness.

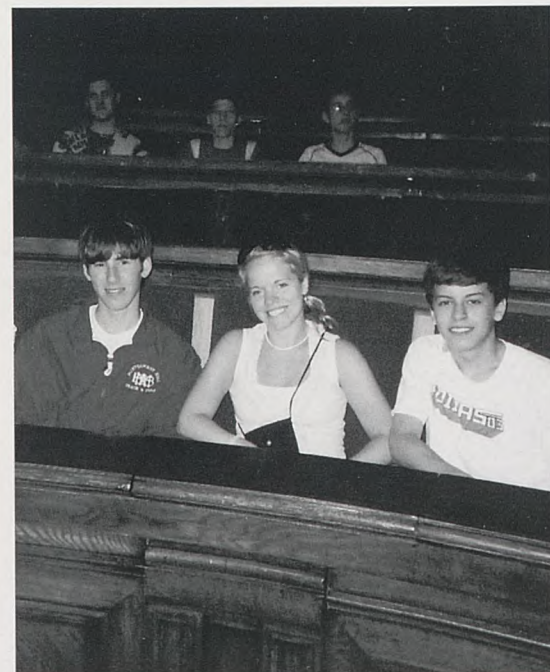

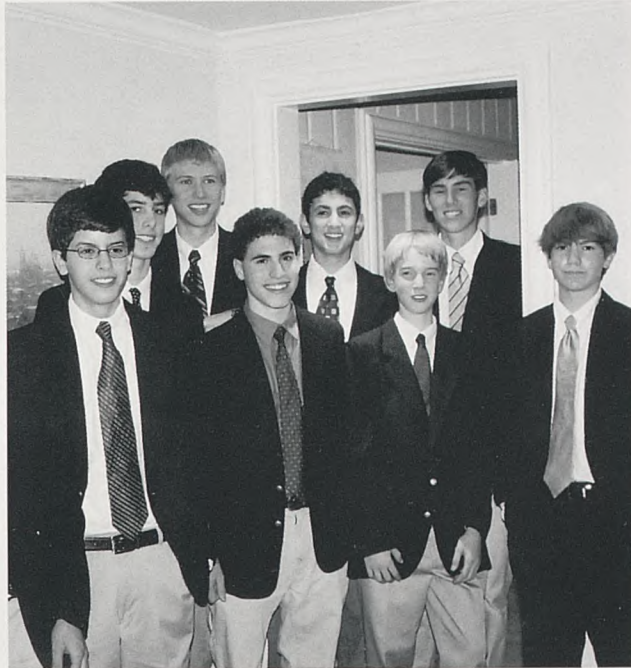

"The shining lights of stages after the show has faded
The crowd is gone away, and now the dawning day
Gives way to creatures lurking, can hear the crickets chirping
Only the owls can see for this is when they start their prey
The homeless ask for quarters for shelter and some water
Say "sorry not today" and turn and walk away
The busy street is empty whistling winds are blowing gently
Listening intently to all of the things they have to say
A day of work completed, a night of rest is needed
Almost would read a book but eyelids too heavy to read it
The fireplace is kindling, snug with your queen and building
About the victories tomorrow's gonna bring your way"

There are many noteworthy memories, so I'll mention a few favorites of mine: Go Go Gadget's boomerang day; Commander Carr's class in general (especially when there was something combustible to "experiment" with); the unending supply of candy and other delectables in French class; Coach Lanier's silent days and the perpetual game of trying to get him to talk; throwing random items out of the band room window.

There were also many games that became prevalent as the senior year went on. Pocket Tanks was used to calculate and test the physics and mechanics of munitions. Command and Conquer was used to replicate modern warfare. Starcraft was used to simulate futuristic warfare and possible strategies should the Zerg or Protoss ever attack. Age of Empires was used to reenact the rise and fall of the Roman Empire. And World of Warcraft was used to imagine how the world would be, should magic and war be unleashed and spread throughout the world.

I uhh...I wrote a poem to put here, but it's kind of embarrassing to have the whole school read it.

Alec, it's been fun even though we've both changed over the years. Will, sorry about your car (try to stay out of reverse next time). Clay, one day I'll pay you back for all the munchies I ate. Mr. Giffen, thank you for all the help, encouragement, and support you've given me as an advisor, college counselor, and friend. Mr. Gioia, Mr. Risen, Ms. Serrano, and Mr. Coverstone, thank you for giving me help even when I didn't ask for it. Spencer, Russell, Bradley, Grant, and everyone else, I look forward to when we visit you more than any other time. Mom, Dad, Caroline and Katie, thanks for being my family. I love you.

Preston Bailey

Have ye not known? have ye not heard? hath it not been told you from the beginning? have ye not understood from the foundations of the earth?

It is he that sitteth upon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grasshoppers; that stretcheth out the heavens as a curtain, and spreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in:

That bringeth the princes to nothing; he maketh the judges of the earth as vanity.

Yea, they shall not be planted; yea, they shall not be sown: yea, their stock shall not take root in the earth: and he shall also blow upon them, and they shall wither, and the whirlwind shall take them away as stubble.

To whom then will ye liken me, or shall I be equal? saith the Holy One.

Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, that bringeth out their host by number: he calleth them all by names by the greatness of his might, for that he is strong in power; not one faileth.

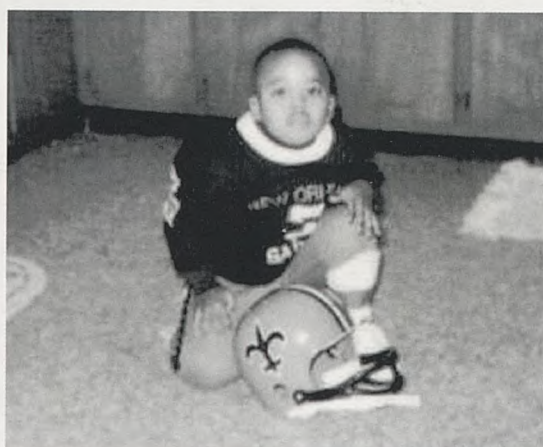

Why sayest thou, O Jacob, and speakest, O Israel, My way is hid from the LORD, and my judgment is passed over from my God?

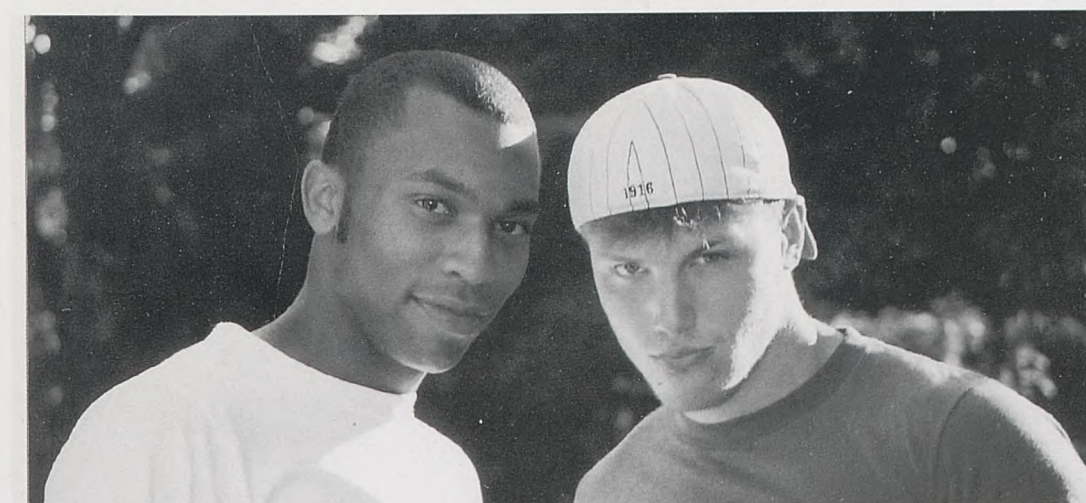

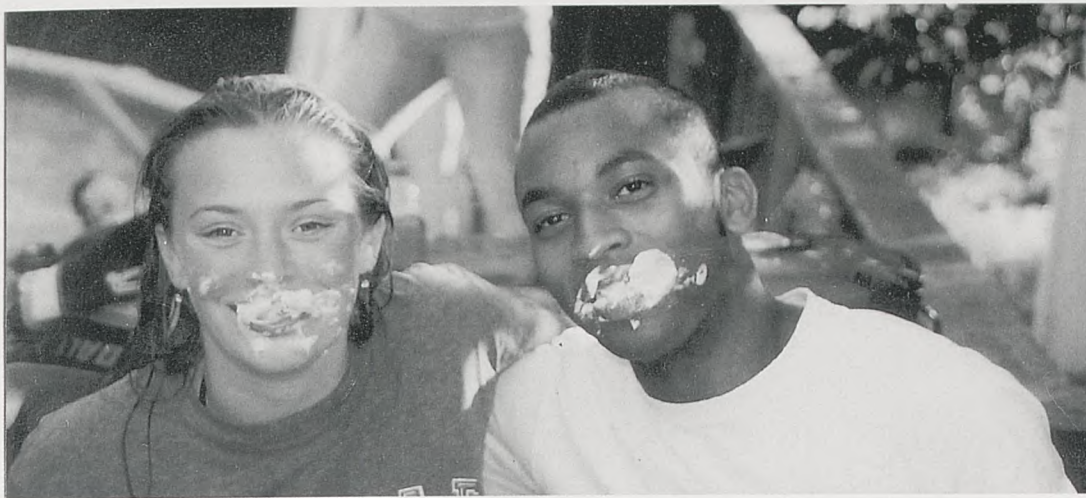

Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the LORD, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding.

He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaseth strength.

Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall:

But they that wait upon the LORD shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.

High School has been one of the greatest times in my life. At times, I would actually have fun at school in spite of the work intensive atmosphere. Thank you to all of my friends for making fun possible. I want to thank all of my teachers for handing me their pearls of knowledge that made me want to learn more. I also want to thank Doc C., Kirsten, Mrs. Williams, Felix, and Mr. Bjella for inspiring me to pursue my musical studies in college. Finally, I want to thank Ma, Pa, Ceeburs, and Ham for their support and camaraderie that made life bearable at home. I would not be who I am today without the aid of all of these people.

Mama and Papa- you guys have helped so greatly to make me who I am today. I am so glad you guys are my parents and have continuously pushed me to work harder.

Joseph- you are my best friend and I can't wait to be with you at Wake.

Polly- I have loved getting to know you better over this past year and talking with you about your boss, jobs, and life.

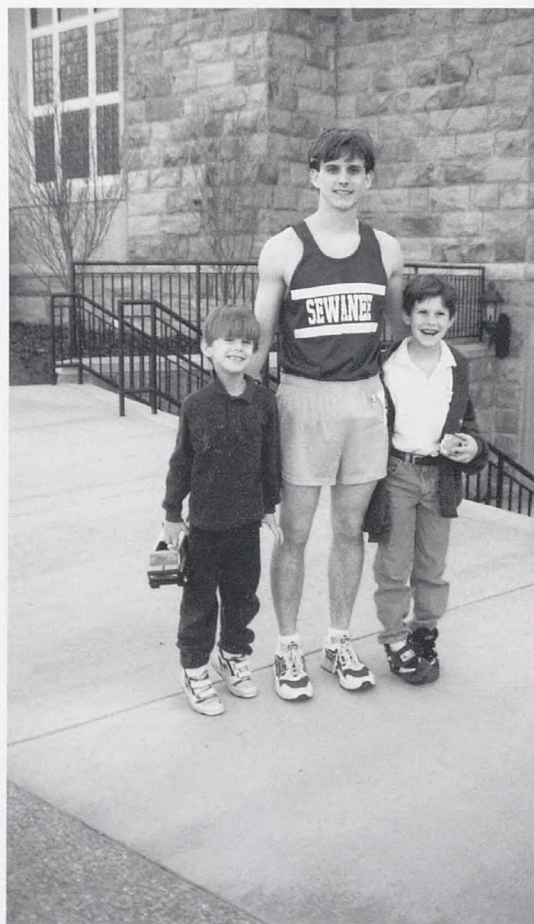

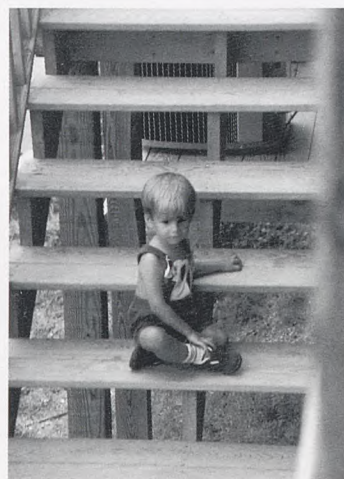

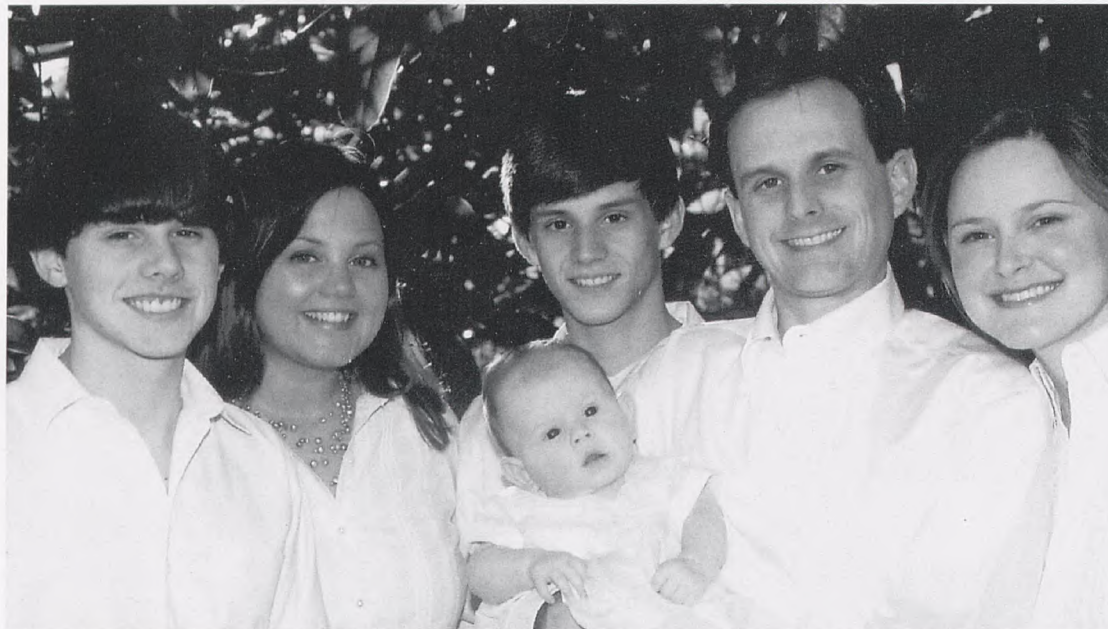

Julian- you are such a fun brother to have and I have so many good memories of hanging out with you.

Debra- you're an awesome sister and your humor always keep me in great spirits. I have loved coming over and eating dinner with you and Julian.

Jay- I have had so much fun hanging out with you for the past three years. You're a great friend and I'll miss sharpie-wars and chilling at your house.

MBA has been the most pivotal experience of my life thus far. Ever since making the jump from Ensworth in 7th grade, I have crossed over into a much better place where maturity and respect are held with high standard. Immediately in 7th grade I was hit with a ton of bricks in the transition to an all boy's school. Though there were times in 7th, 8th, and even 9th grade where I wished I had remained at Ensworth, those years were only growing pains before I really enjoyed my friends, teachers, and classes.

To all the teachers who put up with me and gave me their time, each of you are the reason I made it through MBA. Mr. Klausner, of all the great teachers I have had at MBA, you have really made the biggest impact whether it be freshman English or College Counseling. Mr. Tillman, without you, I would not have graduated from MBA. Mr. Gioia, your patience with me from 7th grade until 11th grade has made a big impact.

To all my peers, it has been a great 6 years.

Mom, Dad, Robert, and Melanie – I just want to thank y'all for everything that you have done for me. I am so lucky to have y'all as my family. You all support me in everything that I do, and I am very grateful for that. I just want to thank y'all for giving me the opportunity to go to MBA and for putting up with me. If it wasn't for y'all, I do not know where I would be. Robert, keep with the hockey. I am glad you found something that you really enjoy. Melanie, Keep being cute, but don't get too red. To all my teachers, thanks for helping me make it through my time at MBA. I couldn't have done it without you, especially Dr. Neergard, Mr. Pruitt, Coach Anglin, and Coach Jenkins. Especially, thanks to Mr. Kelly for being more than a golf coach. Sara, you have helped make the past year a great one. You're a beautiful person, inside and out. Thanks for always being there.

Thanks to all of my friends for the great times, especially, the fab five. I could not ask for a better group of guys to hang out with. Thanks for sticking with me through tough times. We had fun! It's definitely not over yet.

Although at times it has been a struggle just to stay awake, over the years I have to come to realize the daily lack of sleep, along with many other challenges, have all been set before me in order to see me through to success. Some of my success I owe to my teachers who have been very helpful in regards to schoolwork; other success I owe to my parents who were able to afford the trunk-fulls of Redbull; the rest of the credit I will take for myself. Thank you all.

"Mending Wall"

He only says, "Good fences make good neighbors."
Spring is the mischief in me, and I wonder
If I could put a notion in his head:
"Why do they make good neighbors? Isn't it
Where there are cows? But here there are no cows.
Before I built a wall I'd ask to know
What I was walling in or walling out,
And to whom I was like to give offense.
Something there is that doesn't love a wall,
That wants it down." I could say "Elves" to him,
But it's not elves exactly, and I'd rather
He said it for himself. I see him there,
Bringing a stone grasped firmly by the top
In each hand, like an old-stone savage armed.
He moves in darkness as it seems to me,
Not of woods only and the shade of trees.
He will not go behind his father's saying,
And he likes having thought of it so well
He says again, "Good fences make good neighbors."

Vincent Camarata

There are very few words capable of describing my experience at MBA. I am the fourth boy in a family of seven to step on The Hill and the Camarata tradition has been passed on to me. For sixteen years the campus has been our home and as much as I love it I must realize that what it is I really love isn't with MBA itself but with my comrades. I have received nothing but warmth and kindness from all my fellow scholars in my four whole years with the Big Red; having been to eight schools total I can tell anyone that such kindness is only found in true friendship. The uniqueness of MBA is that everyone found friendship within me. I find myself sad when I realize this all must come to an end. When my comrades and I leave The Hill so will the force responsible for our great joy leave with us. My time at Montgomery Bell Academy could have not been more successful. The class of 2008 must move on and let the next generation have their chance to grow. We all leave you now, and we leave our Legacy so that everyone can remember what it meant when we were gentlemen, scholars, and athletes. A second note of gratitude comes from my family. After sixteen years it's hard to think that for the first time ever there won't be a Camarata to look after the campus. For the last time may I repeat our Legacy. Andrew Camarata class of 1998, Anthony Camarata class of 2002, Will Camarata class of 2004, and Vincent Camarata class of 2008, despite our rebel reputation we open our hearts to say goodbye and thank you. We hope the MBA community will remember us as we will remember them.

Why can't we comprehend the mysteries of man?

Leave every stone unturned and every bridge unburned

To My Friends: We've had some pretty amazing times these past few years, and it's kind of sad as it is finally starting to sink in that it's coming to an end. As there are too many fun times and good laughs to list, I'll try to hit some of the highlights: Hangin in Dave's basement dancing to new age 80's pop tunes, porchin it, Smashin it up at Cheese's, weekend escapades to the Super Merc, Watchin old highlights of Boomer Esiason at Taylor's house, Hootay.....and the Blowfish, Rock Show's at 3 a.m. in Stu's room, Gary Fest with the brothers Cole, Watchin weird movies in Sam's basement, Goin to Michigan, Vacationing at Carl's lake house, The best trip every summer to Kiawah, Intense ping pong battles in the basement, Chillin with P, Intense verbal battles with Hayes which almost always ended in uncontrollable laughter, Prom at Snyder's, Churchball, Homecoming at Cheese's, A brisk jog at Elmington, Slumber parties at Dave's and Robert's and Jay's, Buildin the tree house, Stayin up all night in the tree house, The most relaxing trips to Turks, Preston asking me if I loved him, Hangin out at Mary Taylor's, Bein stuck in the bathroom at Mary Taylor's, All the concerts we've seen- Keller, Widespread, Dave- they've all been real, and finally I would just like to add RIP Gonzo. I know I've missed so much, but there's just too many incredible memories to cover them all. I'll never forget any of my friends. We had some pretty outstanding times, and I thank ya'll for making these past four years the best ones of my life.

To My Teachers: Thanks for everything that you've done for me. Thanks for pushing me all these years to go out of my comfort zone and to really push myself. I owe most of my success to all of the great educators I've had during my stay on the hill.

To My Family: I love all of you so much. Thanks for supporting me and sacrificing to put me through a school like MBA, it has paid off tremendously. Thanks for always loving me even when I made it slightly difficult sometimes and for always being there with words of encouragement.

Ben Crownover

Class VP(10-12), Ultimate Frisbee(9-12) team captain(11-12), Chorus(12) Preston Taylor Homes(11-12), Lacrosse(9-10), Track(11), King Society(12)

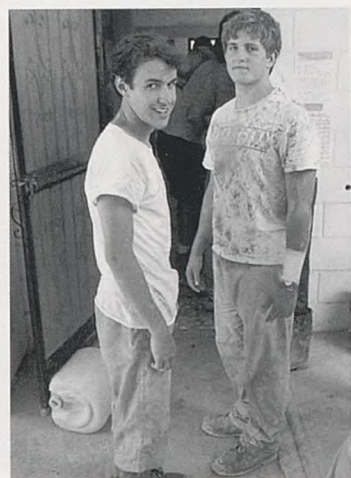

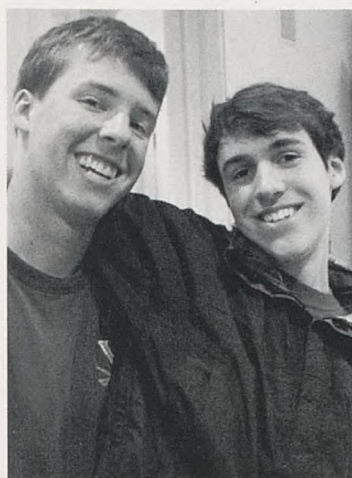

Many might want to forget, many might claim they were never involved, but many will bathe in the glory that will always be remembered as "HIGH SCHOOL," story seen by the eyes of many, but a story told by one man. One man fought to have his right of freedom in a place that took away so much, a place that was even described as "the place where fun comes to die." That man was none other than Ben Crownover . . . He and his classmates never failed to enjoy their inner child while the faculty, so prim and proper, tried to control the wild beasts. The story begins in a lonely breakfast hall where ten close friends set out to plot the greatest adventure know to mankind. This adventure is not to be taken lightly--the weak souls will be left behind and the ones with sanity will go home--but those ten boys were soon to become men in the realm of the great. To the untrained eye their plan seemed almost foolish, but to them it was sheer genius because nothing of this magnitude had even been accomplished. Going through period by period, only glances to one another of what they had planned made failed tests seem unimportant. Every member of the sacred ten had their task that had to be completed flawlessly. When the time had come to strike the "holy land," a.k.a. MBA, each of the sacred ten completed his task without a glitch. On this sunny spring day when those ten boys completed their task that most could only dream about, they gathered for one last calibration in their achievement, one last calibration before they parted on their separate ways to a place known as college. The faculty only wishes they knew what had happened that day, but those ten brave souls are the only answer to the unsolved puzzle.

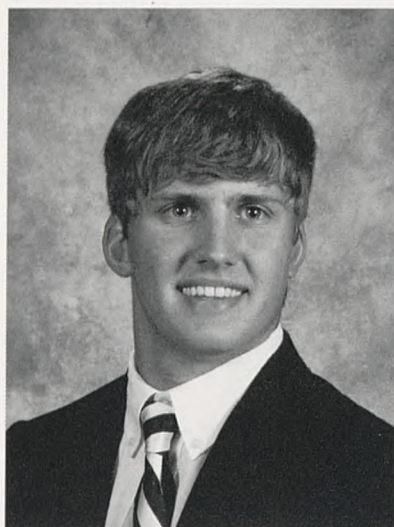

This calibration occurred May 28, a day where souls were set free, a day known to most as graduation, a day where those sacred ten reflected on their time spent together and the time that would never be forgotten.

I would like to thank my mom, dad, and sister for being so supportive and helpful throughout my high school carrier. I have experienced the hard times, the fun times, the sad times, the happy times, and I know looking back I am thoroughly thankful and grateful for the experience that I had while at MBA. To all my classmates, I hope we stay in touch and to all my close friends, thank you for always being there for me. Thanks to all the teachers I had that pushed me to be more than just an average student and exceed in all that I do. It was a good ride that I will always remember.

"And let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds, not giving up meeting together, as some are in the habit of doing, but encouraging one another--and all the more as you see the Day approaching."

8th grade: My first introduction to sports was speedball; Mr. Whitfield's class was...interesting; obviously the Atlanta trip was one not to forget; TNT state champions plus the rings; walking in the jail with unchained inmates;

9th grade: 11 black freshmen...yes Jas Rader does count; 1st dunk attempted = 1st dunk made; Walter complains about homework when 30 seconds ago we were told that he got put out of school; Biology class EJ was afraid of cutting the pig; basketball practices - Coach Moran chucks a ball at the backboard and misses, after he said "use the backboard"; catching leaves after lunch...and squirrels???; track meets were the best - freshman were faster than the seniors at Doug Hall; the name "Willy D" is officially established in Latin Class; NO im not Alfonza and NO im not Nathan 10th grade: "Quo usque something something something"; No one had my back at homecoming; saltwater and sugar water; scoring on Brandon Wright; broken hip; third year my spring break was going to Nathan's house...sigma party; Mr. Hensel IS the man; jv went 17-6; "Do they take your forty time at the health fair?"; Coach P with his mustache and smoothies; Bibb was with who at the movies?; why did everyone use myspace to get girls?

11th grade: "This the remix expletive" - Holden to Sharbel; Keith Sweat - oooh yeah; Mr. Tillman's class was the best; wake up Travis; 1st game, 1st dunk...speaking of dunks, Coach Mac leaps over me while Preston nearly broke his back from John John; BA's homecoming with Nikki; Coach Pride, what happened?; "why don't I just roll"; breaking records and pulling hammies - but guess what? my name is on the wall; "just get yours Ricky" too bad I didn't get mine;

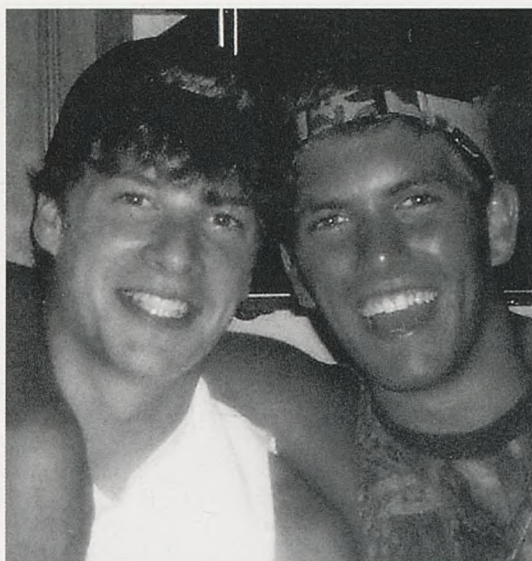

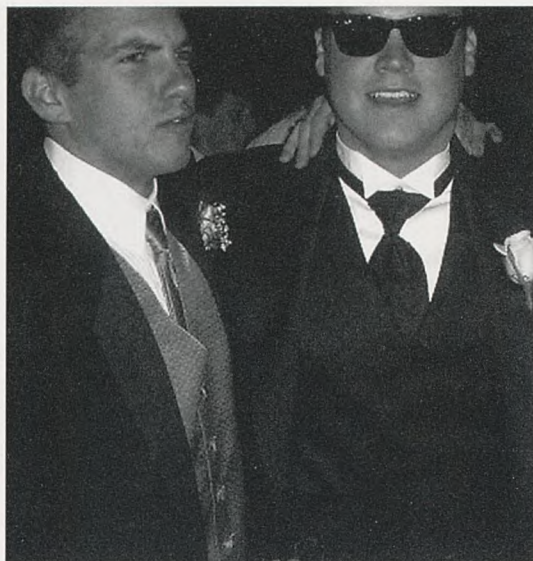

12 grade: "Oh Shhhh Reggie you're scaring me!"; YMCA shirt...Jan 18-20 was wild; Nathan's reflection on the bus; fun at Jay's house; plagued with injuries again; everyone's getting a tattoo; "crank that LT aye!"; chess games; and the list goes on

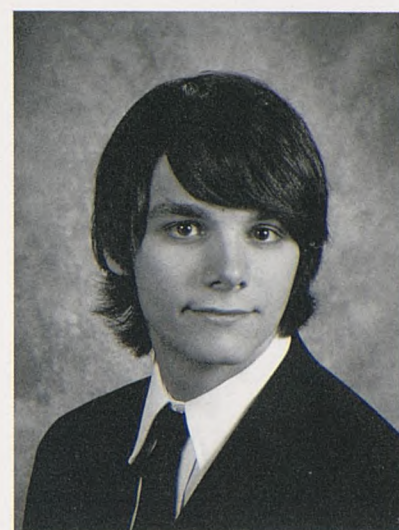

5 years dedicated to basketball, 5 years of people waiting for me to play football, 5 years of misery, suffering, pain..., and success, 5 years of being a gentleman scholar, and an athlete. Without a doubt, I am grateful and blessed to have received an education from this fine institution; however, I cannot thank everyone due to the amounts of generosity from teachers and coaches. (That would take too long due to MBA hiring and firing so many faculty members within a few years). Thanks Mom and Dad for the support and love throughout my rigorous years here on the hill.

The "Journey of a Lifetime" with Wilson. Salt and Pepper, the adventure of a life-time. Sloan and his box. Tee, "I won't go unless you ask me in a sweet way." Weekend after state at Andy's, with John falling through the stairs and Shaub falling through the box. BP in the driveway while waking the neighbors. All the fake fights with Wilson. Wilson throwing me to the wolves during the disco party. Mac's cheese dip fight at David's. Stop sign runs with Frank. Cinco de Mayo.... The fight that never happened. "DO YOU WANT A BURRITO". Robert's magic juice at Ken's. The Super Merc. FRANK YOU'RE NOT STAFF. Falling asleep at the top of my driveway... thanks Frank. Wilson telling me that there were Arabs under his chair. The perfect weekend ruined by snow. The Foamy Chicken at Snyder's house. Hottub at Snyder's with his mom listening to EVERYTHING. Hunting with Carl....GEAR. The Bama weekend with Sunny-D at 8 in the morning. The BP dynasty 42-0. The lunchtime preparations. Wait, whose week is it Tee or Wilson? Austin take off your shirt. Tee and "Johnny on the spot" at Steeple Chase. Christening the GB at Snyder's. The week at David's. The duffle bags at Lindsey's. Skynrd 3 years in a row with Frank. Blue Collar Comedy with the Boys. Playing with Eric's neighbors on Homecoming. Pre-game Halo at Swan's. Cooking a 5 course meal before Halloween Dance. David's patio after Homecoming, hunny buns and cheese dip. Late nights with my mom and Frank. Junior homecoming and the "Wedding Picture". Tee's bed shot ending with his head in the can. Ferrell's picture skills. Wilson's fab-four. Senior year playing Man-down. Frank, swamp, Tee's face. The golden showers. Broobin' down the harpeth. Wilson's 1st hunting experience. GINZA. Easy mac and the pyramid with Wilson. Thanks to all my friends for making this one of the best experiences of my life. Bam, Tank, Fuzz, Roadkill, and everyone else. I want to thank my parents for everything they have done for me my entire life. For providing me with all the benefits and privileges that they have given me. Thank you also to my other two homes that I lived with for most of my high school career.

I want to thank all my teachers and coaches who have helped me through this journey at MBA. You, my family, and my friends have made me what I am today.

Dad, thanks for always encouraging me to achieve my goals. You are the hardest working man I have ever met and even in the face of adversity you don't slow down. Mom, you always encouraged me during those late nights. You continue to be an example of how to live my life. We miss you, but we will see you again in heaven. Brian, thanks for making all the mistakes before me. You continue to inspire me to work hard. Mers, ever since I met you, you have encouraged me to be myself. You have helped me through the hardest time in my life and I can never repay you. Finally, I want to thank the Lord for blessing me with an amazing family and for allowing me to have countless memories on the Hill. Also, Lord, I know you will continue to walk beside me the rest of my life.

Mr. Sawyer, I don't know how you put up with me for three years, but thanks for doing it. I love German, and I've loved your class. Dr. Fuller and Mrs. Klocko, thanks for all of my time under the spotlight. I've loved it. Mr. Moxley, you've definitely been more than a teacher and advisor to me the past six years. I've felt comfortable sharing anything with you. I needed that. Ryan, I'm so glad you came to MBA. I've loved having a relative here, and keep the Hill legacy rockin' kiddo. To my friends, this has really been something to witness.

There must have been hard times for me in the past six years, but the only memories I have are good ones.

You were even the first person to help me tie my tie when I didn't know how. Mr. Pruitt for your insightful humor during my freshman and senior years. Ms. Hollifield for your help throughout my whole high school career. You made so many things possible for me. Without you I believe that I would have struggled so much. I was one of the original Hollifield advisees, and I enjoyed it so much no matter how many pictures you wanted to take of us. I also loved the muffins you would bring for us on our birthdays. Thank you all so much.

I also want to thank all of my coaches. Coach Elliott = Brilliance. The best coach that I have had a privilege to learn from. It is also an honor to have won an award named after you. Coach Redmond for always pushing me to do my best and for having faith in me my sophomore year. Coach Brown, I know you knew that I could carry that monkey after Luke left. Coach McGugin for those Mondays.

Lastly I want to thank my parents. Mom, you're the strongest woman that I have ever seen. Thank you for always looking out for my best interests. Thank you for letting me pick where I wanted to go for high school...I think that I made the right decision. My grandparents, y'all are so amazing and I love you both. Thank you for putting up with me even though I didn't like to clean my room. Dad, even though you were not here physically, you were always here in spirit. There was not a day that went by that I didn't think about what could have happened if you were here. It was hard not having you there to cheer me on like you always used to do, but it's o.k. I played with your heart in every sport that I participated in. I promise when you get out that everything will be alright. Love you, pops.

I first came to MBA in the 8th grade and knew practically no one. I survived, though, and learned the study habits that would prove successful throughout my time on The Hill. Having Mrs. Pettus in English that first year really helped because of her connections with my family. I especially enjoyed Mr. Thurmond's math class and Mr. Whitfield's lessons on cooking pancakes. The 8th grade trip was amazing to say the least: Paintball, Six Flags, Coke Factory, ESPN Zone, etc. 9th grade was a little tougher. Although we had a more freedom, the workload was brutal (Crime and Punishment). I remember tacky souvenirs in Latin and Lanier's "no talking" classes. Starting my MBA swimming career off with a bang, I surprisingly won state in the 100 BR and also swam on some great relays with Paul, Van, and Tom. Carpooling with the big seniors was fun; waking up at 4:00 am for practice was not. Sophomore year included the arrival of the younger Lovelace at MBA. A disappointing state defeat fueled motivation for my first National Cut in the 200 BR. 11th grade was the best yet. Having two teachers (Lanier and DeYoung), for the second time made adjusting easier. Dr. Kinch's English class and Dr. Clark's Physics B (2007 Physics Bowl Champs) were other highlights. I redeemed myself at state by reclaiming my title in the 100 BR and qualifying for Nationals in the 200 IM. I reached my goal and qualified for the 2008 Olympic Trials over the summer. Senior year, my last year at MBA. Three AP classes comprised most of the workload, though I practically became a "part-time" student in the fall: recruiting trips to UT, UGA, FSU, Texas, and Stanford; swimming for team USA in Melbourne. Deciding where to go to college was by far the toughest decision of my life, but I felt confident that Stanford would provide me with the best opportunities in and out of the pool. Then, Senior Slide was in full force. Two state championships and a Region team title was a great way to end my Big Red swimming career.

I would like to thank MBA for everything that I have experienced. I have made strong friendships that will last throughout my life. I have truly been blessed to learn from such wonderful and experienced teachers. MBA has prepared me for the challenges and experiences that I will undergo throughout my life, and I am very thankful for the lessons I have learned on the Hill. I will never forget the Big Red spirit that is present here and I believe that attending MBA was the best decision of my life. Roll, Red, Roll!

I would not have learned as much as I did during high school if it had not been for their open minds and willingness to share and gather knowledge. To my parents, I am grateful for your unwavering support of me. You two have shaped me into who I am today, and I would not have it any other way.

We were put out in the dark of the night with one horn of fire, about the color of the moon. But we needed more light, cause we could hardly see at all. So in order to spread the light, we stoked the fire and shared it with each other. But though I broke into many pieces, these people helped put me back together: Curt, Dane, Elliot, Will, Sam, Rush, Tyler, Bennett, Garrett, Morey, Graham, Zan, and Mr.Hensel. Thanks Dad, Mom, Justin, and Josh. Shall we with pains erect a heaven of blue glass over ourselves, though when it is done we shall be sure to gaze at the true ethereal heavens far above. Life seemed at times to smolder around the edges, but I would never have thought, even for a moment, that there would be a place for people like us. Nof is love.

So now it really is over. I came, I saw, and well now I am done. I would like to thank all of my teachers and coaches. To my teachers, I can not put into words what each one of you has done for me. For it is not only the "book knowledge" I have attained from you, but also the knowledge that I can learn and do anything I put my mind to. To my coaches, thank you for pushing me to the point where I wanted to quit. Thank you for making me mentally tough, and teaching me lessons about life that one can not learn anywhere else. Sports are a passion of mine, and your passion towards sports was truly palpable. Mom and Dad, thank you for being so supportive and letting me be myself throughout my high school career. I love you all so much. You two are the best parents, people, and role-models I have had in my life. Ryan, thanks for being a great sister. Although we only got one year of high school together, we have spent our whole lives with each other, and I would not trade you for the world. In closing, Here's my final thought, "If I could do it all over again, I wouldn't." You only go through high school once, and there is a reason for that. I did enjoy my time on the Hill, but another four years might have killed me ha. Peace! I'm outta here!

Thank you to everybody who has made my experience at MBA unbelievable. I never want to leave the Hill because of the relationships I have made with my friends, teachers, and coaches. You have all inspired me in your own way. To my friends, we've had some amazing times. We'll be friends forever. Jon Jon, thanks for pushing me, buddy. I couldn't have done it without you. You're the reason why I'm playing the game next year. Ms. Williams, you have taught me so much about life outside the classroom. You're the best. Christina and Elaina, we've had some amazing times together. I will never forget our fights for the remote and our laughs when our little cousins slip and fall. Mom and Dad, thanks for being the best parents. I am the luckiest son in the world to have you guys. I love you.

I thank God for giving me the chance to attend an amazing place. My years at MBA will probably be the best 6 years of my life, and I am so thankful to have spent them with such amazing people. Thank you Coach McGugin and Coach Brown. You taught me that no matter what the odds, determination, courage, and hard work lead to success. Mrs. O'Connell, you have taught me the true meaning of honor, integrity, and respect to fellow classmates. And Mr. Womack, your Art History AP class opened my eyes to a whole new world. You taught me to look at something not just on its outward appearance, but its true meaning. Thank you FPC Youth Staff. You taught me what it truly means to be one of God's children, and I can't imagine my life without you. Thanks Mom and Dad. Without you, I would not be the person I am today. Your love is extraordinary and will never be matched. You have guided me through the struggles and have encouraged me to always do my best. I am so proud to be your son. I love you so much. Thank you, Memaw. Your tender touch, love, and respect for all have truly been an inspiration to me. And to my friends, we have seen the best of times and we have seen some of the worst of times. You have all influenced me in so many ways and each one of you brings something different to the table. We have done a lot of laughing and a lot of stupid things. But they were all worth it. It was because of all of you that I am even able to write this paragraph. Our experiences at MBA have shaped our lives and I am so lucky to have spent time with all of you. Remember our times on the hill. And those who are still on the Hill, cherish your time. Thank you!

On a more serious note, MBA has been a great experience for me. I have learned many things that may, or may not, prove useful to me in later days. However, friends and acquaintances I have made during my time will benefit me forever. This really could not have been made possible without my teachers and parents who never gave up on me, and kept me going every day. I owe gratitude for my achievements to everyone who has been there during this long journey. Coach K in particular, you have been my greatest asset and friend, and I could never thank you enough. Now... what am I going to do with all my spare time after MBA?

Wisdom is knowing what you do not know.

The Road Not Taken

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

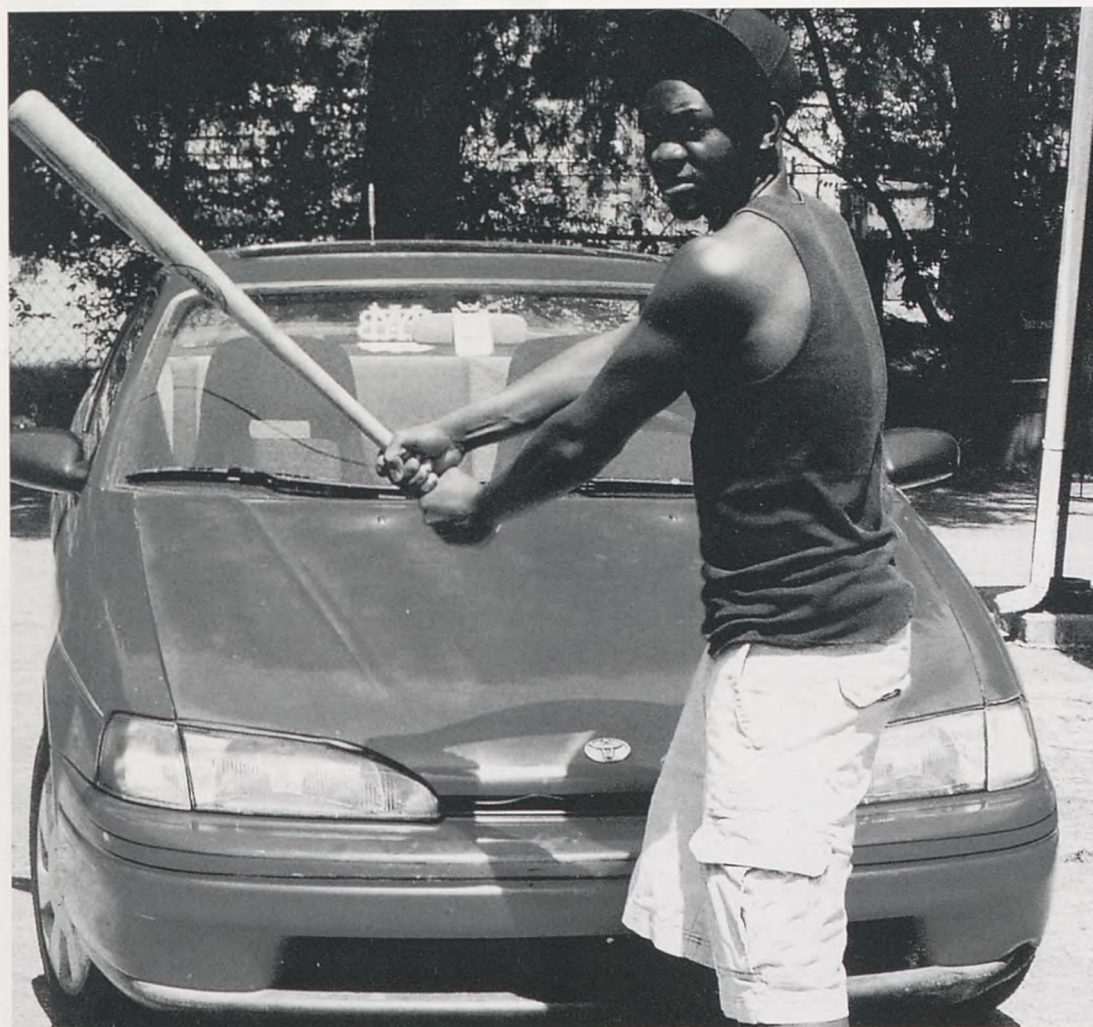

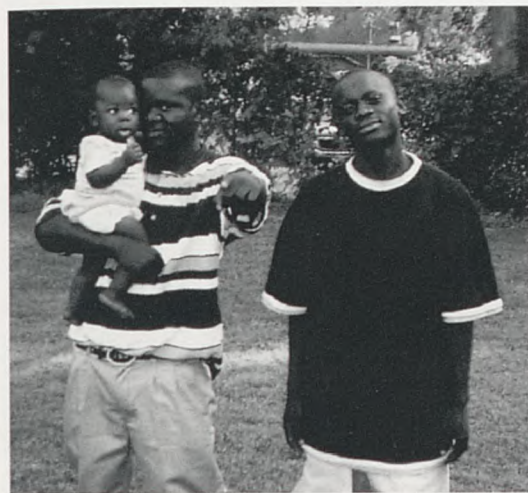

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted
wear;

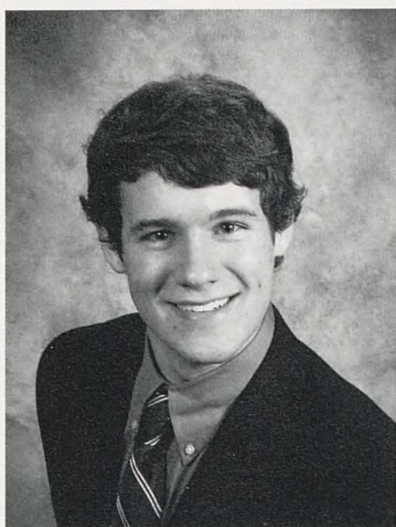

Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Thanks to everyone who stuck by me for these six years, even when things got a little strange. To all the teachers who taught me everything that I will use beyond the MBA campus, and to Ms. Hollifield, my fantastic and patient advisor. I know how groggy and unpleasant we are in the morning. Thanks to my theatre directors and music conductors, who can make a beautiful spectacle out of any mess of an ensemble. Thanks to my family, who reassured and supported me even when I was argumentative and frustrating. It's been a weird few years, but I've certainly learned more than just academics here. I just hope that I will have left on MBA even a fraction of the impression it has left on me.

Thank You: I came to MBA as a courteous, academically unchallenged, and athletically raw yet un-finessed young man. I can safely say that after a wonderful 4-year experience at one of the greatest schools in America, I am now a true Gentleman, Scholar, and Athlete.

However, without the advice, care, and friendship of others, I would have not graduated from MBA. I would like to give special thanks to the many people who urged me on, cared for me, and gave me great advice when I needed it most. To my whole family: Thank you all for supporting me in everything I did at MBA. Thank you for being the greatest fans, friends, and family ever. There was not a single time at any athletic event in which I participated that I looked in the stands and could not find my family-and to all of you I owe my greatest appreciation. Mom, thanks for always putting up with my nonsense that nobody else sees and being the driving force in my life-YOU are the reason I am who I am today. Nana and Pops, thank you for EVERYTHING I could possibly ever thank you for, this whole page would not be enough for me to express what y'all have done for me over the years. Uncle Jay, thanks for being the all around family member and mentor-the dad I didn't have in my high school years, brother, friend, etc. Brant, thank you for being a brother in my life and one of my best friends-we've had plenty of good times. Kedrick, thanks for being that friend who truly was always there no matter what-we've had good times too.

To all the new family and friends, teachers and advisors, coaches and inspirers I have met and made during my 4 years at MBA, I thank you for the best years of my life thus far, as you all played a huge role in my life: The McLaughlin's, The McGugin's, The Morrissey's, The Cole's, The Harris's, Coach Redmond, Coach Anderson, Coach Wims, Coach E., and Mrs. Christenson. If I forgot anyone, I am extremely sorry; however, thank you to everyone for a once-in-a-lifetime experience.

Very Special Thank You to the following: Brentwood Academy and Father Ryan football teams, thanks for the memories and being a part of our record books. (13-7, 12-0 / 26-0, 42-7 / but most importantly 13-0)

-- e.e. cummings

somewhere i have never travelled, gladly beyond any experience, your eyes have their silence:

in your most frail gesture are things which enclose me, or which i cannot touch because they are too near your slightest look easily will unclose me

though i have closed myself as fingers,
you open always petal by petal
myself as Spring opens (touching skillfully, mysteriously) her first rose or if your wish be to close me, i and my life will shut very beautifully, suddenly,

as when the heart of this flower imagines
the snow carefully everywhere descending;

nothing which we are to perceive in this world equals
the power of your intense fragility; whose texture compels me with the colour of its countries,
rendering death and forever
with each breathing

(i do not know what is about you that closes
and opens; only something in me understands the voice of your eyes is deeper than all roses)
nobody, not even the rain, has such small hands

Tree at my window, window tree,

My sash is lowered when night comes on;

But let there never be curtain drawn

Between you and me.

Vague dream-head lifted out of the ground,

And thing next most diffuse to cloud,

Not all your light tongues talking aloud

Could be profound.

But tree, I have seen you taken and tossed,

And if you have seen me when I slept,

You have seen me when I was taken and swept

And all but lost.

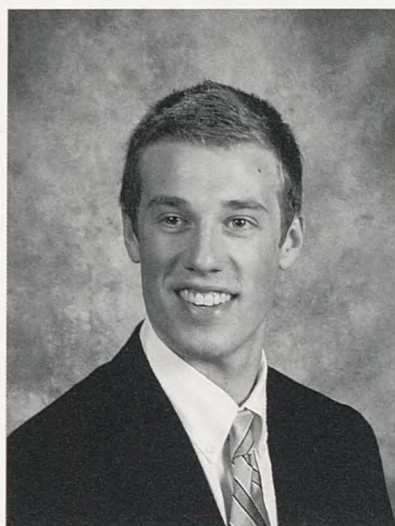

That day she put our heads together,

Fate had her imagination about her,

Your head so much concerned with outer,

Mine with inner, weather.

One of my wishes is that those dark trees,
So old and firm they scarcely show the breeze,
Were not, as 'twere, the merest mask of gloom,
But stretched away unto the edge of doom.

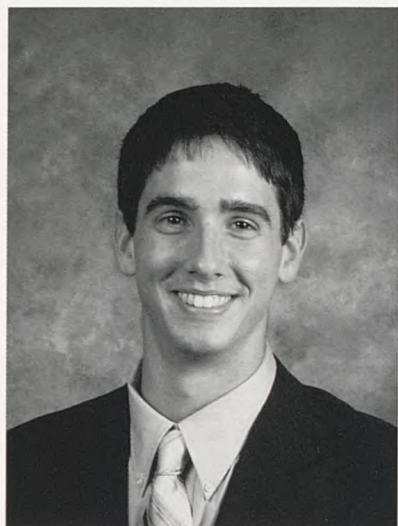

I should not be withheld but that some day
Into their vastness I should steal away,
Fearless of ever finding open land,
Or highway where the slow wheel pours the sand.

I do not see why I should e'er turn back,
Or those should not set forth upon my track
To overtake me, who should miss me here
And long to know if still I held them dear.

They would not find me changed from him the knew-
Only more sure of all I thought was true.

To my family, thanks for everything you've done to make my life so wonderful. Lauren, you're the best sister a little brother could have. Every day I'm amazed at everything you've accomplished, and I know you're heading for great things. Thanks for always having time to talk. Mom and Dad, I couldn't have asked for a better childhood. You've always been there to support and encourage me, and I hope that one day I'll be half as good a parent as you two have been to Lauren and me. To my friends, we've had so many good times here. I hope we all keep in touch. Maggie, you've brightened my life since the day we met. I can't begin to say how lucky I feel to have spent my time with you.

"... Earth's the right place for love:
I don't know where it's likely to go better.
I'd like to go by climbing a birch tree,
And climb black branches up a snow-white trunk
Toward heaven, till the tree could bear no more,
But dipped its top and set me down again.
That would be good both going and coming back.
One could do worse than be a swinger of birches."

MBA is awesome. I truly can not have imagined having the same experience at any other type of school. Though the work was hard and the discipline was strict, the experience was truly unbelievable and the companionship was priceless. It is difficult to believe that this wonderful experience is finally coming to an end. Mom and Dad, I'm sorry your last child is going away, but I am utterly grateful for everything. How can I possibly repay you for all that you have done to mold me into the best possible man? All I can say is that I love you and will continue the path that you have led me on to live a life worth everything you have given. Winston, Hughes, Margaret, each of you has had a huge impact on my life. I find it impossible to deny that I have inherited traits from all of you. Sorry for all the troubles that come with a younger sibling and thanks for everything. Although I am excited about the days ahead, I am sad that I am leaving and will always cherish my days on the hill. Roll Red Roll!

In my time at MBA I was able to participate in my favorite activities and learned enormously from my teachers, despite how it may have seemed to them. I would like to thank each and every one of them and assure them that their impact on me has been profound. After 6 years I have been left with a passion for the arts, technology, and sciences that I plan to pursue professionally or as a hobby. I commend my parents for being able to put up with me for 18 grueling years and wish them the best. Family, friends, and teachers, I will never forget you.

The Road goes ever on and on Down from the door where it began.

Now far ahead the Road has gone,
And I must follow, if I can,
Pursuing it with eager feet,
Until it joins some larger way
Where many paths and errands meet.

And whither then? I cannot say.

Can anyone at all perceive what an effect all this should have upon that which we are to become. How can I come to see the light myself if I cannot make it seen by another? So painfully I wish to take you to a star itself to show you just how much things seem better when there is nothing but you and I and the light of which we speak and seek. Our lives solely possessed because we cannot be this light. Because we cannot be this light, we drive to see it and for this alone we go. Of a place of nothing I dream—nothing but the love I so deeply feel, which seems, because there is no star to illuminate our inherent plight and slate of feeling, is nothing in itself. Without this light, I see nothing of which I feel; my pain so real, but, to the Essence, it is nothing. But because there is no light, I cannot see these things that move me—there is no love, no good, no bad, no hope, no sin; we are absolved—and yet I writhe. Those who fail to greet this steadfast solemnity in the night are the most discontent of all, those content to remain absolved. Those who lack this pain know not the great joy of its release, for they are the darkest of all; they feel nothing; they love nothing; they see nothing; they are nothing. Darkness is indifference. Because we feel—such sentient existence—we exist, we are significant, we matter. It matters not what makes me feel, but with whom and for whom. And in this, there is light. Most things cluster toward a great force—the gravity—to band a great sense of light—they need this visible light, but here it is the darkest. But there are some who wander into emptiness. They are alone but not alone. They are alone because they cannot see, and yet they are not alone—they sustain the company of a lover. They are constant and steadfast as Eremita, and are comfortable in the Vast. Only when we embrace this pain gifted by the Other is there light—and in you, I see, the only Kyrie I know or need. And here we are wandering blissfully through our invisible light and nothing could ever bring me woe as long as I have you with me. For my light alone, I love. In the beginning, there was light. And it was good.

Thanks Coach Simpson, Coach Jenkins, Coach Shone and Coach McBride for all the lessons you taught me about wrestling and about life. I would have been a very different person if it were not for all of you. Thanks Coach McGugin for always putting things in perspective. Thanks Coach Bill for all the great times, and thanks Coach Trembley for everything you taught me. On a scale of 1 to thank you, Coach Pruitt (those things never made any sense).

To Mom and Dad, you made some things a lot harder than they needed to be, but I couldn't have made it through without you.

To Kendall, Haylee, and Alex, thanks for always being there to listen to me when I felt like no one would listen.

To Sonja, thanks for always being there when I didn't want to say anything to anyone.

As I look around for the constants in my time, I have found that true friends are rare, the world is unjust, no one can always be trusted, and only God is always there. Sadly, time has left me without saying where it went.

These past 6 years have been the best years of my life. I started as some ordinary African-American boy entering a new environment and a different comfort level, and I'm leaving as a Gentleman, Scholar, Athlete.

I would first like to thank my parents and my sisters. Without you none of my accomplishments would be possible. Mama, Daddy, Dori, Teondra, you all made these past years great and I love each and every one of you and am thankful that I could get support from the best four people in the world.

Secondly, I would like to thank Mr. Whitfield. My journey through MBA would not have been possible without you. As a mentor you've given me great advice in many areas and I am honored to be one of your advisees. Coach Redmond, Coach Elliot, and Coach McGugin, all of you have helped me through some tough times on and off the football field. You've all had faith in me even though I had a few setbacks in prior years. Mr. Gioia, I would like to thank you for taking me in your advisory group and advising me in many ways that will last a lifetime.

For all those I left out I would like to apologize but I am grateful for all of you who helped me grow in every way possible. Class of 2008, we did it! I'm pretty sure we are the best class to ever come through MBA.

Wow, life sure does go by quickly. It seems like just yesterday I was in the backyard singing a politically incorrect version of YMCA with my best friend John Alexander. Now as I embark on the next chapter of my journey, I am unsure of what life holds in store, but I am sure that whatever it is would not have been possible without a lot of help. To My parents: you made sacrifices in every way possible so that I could have the best education, and I will never forget that. You stayed strong in the midst of despair and tragedy and I will always look to you as role models for how I should live my life. I can only hope that I can be half the parent to my children that you both were to me. To Weenie: You are the embodiment of unconditional love. You had it all figured out and I hope I can reach the same enlightenment. I know you're still watching over me with Nana, and I long for the day when I see you both again. To Bully: Stay silly little guy and I know you can make it through Pre-K! To My teachers at MBA: Mr. Tate, I have spent more time with you than just about anyone else at MBA, mainly because we get along so well. I know we won't lose contact after graduation. Mr. Gioia, your mentoring as both a headmaster allowing a confused sophomore into MBA under especially trying circumstances to your teaching in Senior year will not be forgotten. Mr. Coverstone, you blend extreme intelligence with a sense of justice and fairness that I can only hope to emulate. If I am ever President, I would be honored to have you serve as Press Secretary. Dr. Clements, your enthusiasm for a subject that I love is unmatched and I hope to approach my life with the same exuberance that you unfailingly demonstrate; Dr. Kinch, your brilliance and open-mindedness towards writing helped my thought process grow tremendously; Mr. Moxley, as my first English teacher at MBA, you taught me the ropes with laudable kindness and diligence; Mr. DeYoung and Dr. Clark, both of your courses at MBA will stick with me for life because of your uncanny ability to integrate your personalities and humor into your instruction. Thank you to all of the teachers, faculty, and students that I have gotten to know at MBA. Each and every one of you has changed my life.

I love you Mommy, Daddy, Weenie, and Bully!

Long nights. Stressful nights. Friends in need. Being in need. Being there for a friend. Having a friend be there for you. Hastings Hensel.

The whole MBA experience is something that will never be forgotten. It has formed friendships and stressed bonds. It has opened the door for my future, so I guess all I have to say is thank you MBA faculty, staff, and MBA as a whole.

Varsity Cross Country

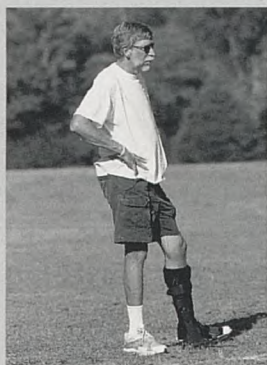

Tyler Ramsden runs past all other competition.

Lindsay Bohannon is in the zone.

After a summer of training that included a trip to Sewanee, the 2007 Cross Country season began with a win in the Drake Memorial with co-captains Tyler Ramsden, Baker Mulherin, and Matt Ractliffe claiming the top three spots. After a series of weekly District Meets, the team placed second out of 42 teams in the AF Bridges Invitational with freshman Michael Peters finishing in the top ten. After a victory in the District Championships, the varsity squad traveled to the Great American Cross Country Festival in Hoover, Alabama, to compete against teams from around the country. The team finished second by only three points with senior Tyler Ramsden finishing sixth overall. Next, the team won both the varsity and junior varsity races at the Metro Championships with individual champions in each race. In Chattanooga, the squad secured a record thirtieth appearance in the State Meet with a second place finish in the Region Championship with 22 individual personal bests. Although the team placed third in state, this finish was the school's most successful since 1999.

Tyler Ramsden and Michael Peters earned All-State honors, and the team returns six of seven varsity runners for the next season.

Varsity Football

The 2007 MBA Football team had many telling firsts. Some of the biggest contributors to the first thirteen-win season in school history were the linemen on the offensive and defensive sides. Usually receiving little publicity, this group of dedicated men paved the way for a state championship and the first season with two 1000-yard rushers. The offensive line--led by Preston Bailey, Wesley Johnson, Robert Rolfe, Will Adams, Owen Lipscomb, Joseph Sloan, Clark Benton, and Clay Money--enabled E.J. Vinsang and Christian Waddey to gain 1389 and 1025 rushing yards respectively. Spencer Wise threw for 983 yards to receivers Andrew Harris and Swan Burrus, tight end Joseph Sloan, and fullback Ben Bartholomew. Scott Bubis, Matt Ferrell, Reuben Thomas, and Jay Cole led the attack of a stingy MBA defense that allowed an average of only 7.3 points per game. Linebackers Alfonza Knight and Ben Bartholomew, as well as defensive ends Dane Daniels, Mike Byrge, and Andy McLaughlin consistently made plays to stop the run and pass while safeties Nathan Wade and Jas Rader provided additional support. Corners Reggie Ford and Tee Stumb, with occasional help from E.J. Vinsang and Perry Webb, covered opposing wide receivers and eliminated the pass threat from explosive offenses. Kicker Andrew Fletcher dominated the kicking game by making several key field goals in big games, including four in the state championship.

Over the summer, the football team worked harder than ever. Coach Brock's intense workouts tested and prepared the team to thrive throughout the long season. The new leadership of Coach McGugin coupled with the wisdom of Coach Elliott not only inspired the team but also made them enjoy the game. The players of new coaches Counce II, Counce III, and Brock performed with the same discipline as the established coaches Redmond, Brown, Barclay, Moran, Golenor, and Sawyer; all coaches had their positions finely tuned.

The 2007 Football team's success was a team effort. Thanks to Mrs. Morrissey, Mr. Guth, and all who made the season a great success. The 2007 MBA football season will be remembered for a long time as one of the most dominant seasons in the school's storied football history.

The Big Red Defeats the Irish Twice

The MBA defense shuts down the Ensworth running game.

Ben looks for running room.

Tee celebrates as Fletcher makes yet another field goal.

The first win for the Big Red football team against the Irish came on a crisp Friday evening. M.B.A. braved the tough conditions at Greer Stadium, playing partly in the outfield and partly in the infield. Even through this adversity, the Big Red managed to pull off a 26-0 victory to quiet the rowdy Ryan fans.

In the second round of the playoffs, the Irish were once again no match for the Big Red. Hoping to avenge their previous loss, the Irish looked to upset their rivals. The Big Red "mercy ruled" the Irish by going up 35 points in the 3rd quarter, earning the privilege of a running clock. The Big Red conquered the Irish once again, 42-7.

B.A. Proved No Match for the Big Red

M.B.A. and Brentwood Academy met for the first time during the regular season. In a very close game, the Big Red defense and the foot of kicker Andrew Fletcher helped the Big Red to come out on top 13-7. The two teams would not meet again until the State Championship.

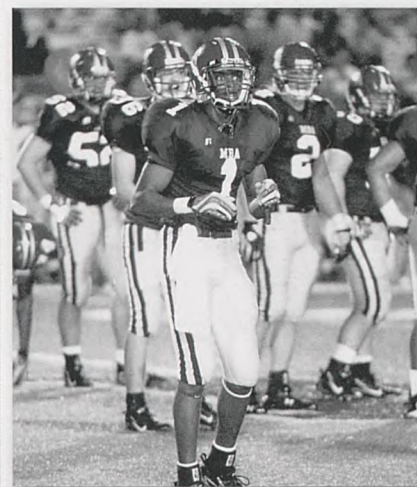

In the State Championship, M.B.A.'s defense once again held B.A.'s offense in check, producing a shutout for the Big Red. The Big Red offense relied on its hard-nosed running game, but could not produce any touchdowns. The sure foot of Andrew Fletcher once again produced points for the Big Red. M.B.A. came out on top 12-0, and Andrew Fletcher and Nathan Wade were named the offensive and defensive M.V.P.s of the game, respectively.

The captains walk out for the coin toss.

Spencer and Coach McGugin strategize about the next play.

Nathan and the Big Red defense look to the sideline for the call.

Varsity Golf

Senior John Burch was runner up in the State Tournament.

Senior Rob Broadhurst was the medalist in the Stan McNabb Tournament.

The 2007 Varsity Golf team began fine tuning its game in the spring through workouts and lessons.

The amazing facilities provided at The Golf Club of Tennessee, thanks to the largesse of MBA alumnus David Ingram, improved the level of play of every member of this year's team over the second half of the summer. After constant individual practice and tournament play by the majority of the team throughout the summer months, everyone was excited to see what kind of success the year would bring.

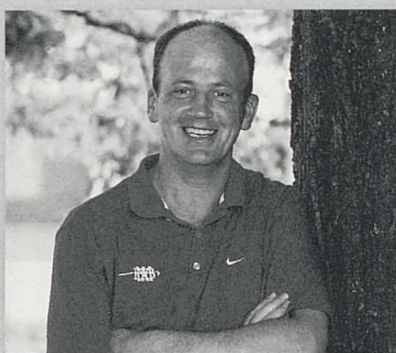

The team began the year by winning the Stan McNabb Invitational in early August at Lakewood Country Club in Tullahoma, Tennessee, and then moved into the regular season. After solid wins over Ensworth and Marshall County, the team faced mid-state power Brentwood Academy. The pairing of Cody Fisher and Tyler Leroy won the deciding match to boost the Big Red to a 2-1 victory in best ball match play. The team finished the regular season with a series of hard-fought matches before moving into postseason play.

Playing in the newly designed "East" Region, which combined the former middle and east divisions, the team of

Tyler Leroy, Tyler Paslick, John Burch, Daniel Leader, and Rob Broadhurst traveled to Black Creek Golf Club in Chattanooga in search of a region championship and a place in the State tournament. After taking a solid fourth place in the Region, the same group came to Old Fort Golf Club in Murfreesboro for the final event of the season. The team finished in third place with John Burch taking runner-up honors; Daniel Leader and John Burch were named to the all-state team. Special thanks to John Spellman at Richland Country Club for his coaching assistance in the spring and to Coach Kelly for driving all over Tennessee and teaching us to be competitive while enjoying the game of golf.

Chris Whitlock was selected as a member of the Tennessee High School All-State Rifle Team.

Chris Whitlock

Vic Goetz

Vic Goetz earned an invitation to compete at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs for the Junior Olympic Individual Air Rifle Championship.

This was a year of tremendous growth tempered with learning to deal with frustration and setback. With no seniors on the team, five juniors and a sophomore led by Team Captain Vic Goetz did our heavy lifting in inter-school competition.

Our fitness training started in August under Coach Sharbel before school started with daily runs of three miles or more - we run to achieve a lower resting heart rate while shooting. By the end of the season, the team had lost well over a hundred pounds and no telling how many belt notches.

Competition with other schools kicked off in September and continued through April. Every year for the past 13 years we have conducted an invitational tournament in October. The tournament, now known as the MBA Rifle Classic, started small and has grown nearly every year. It is now the largest high school sponsored tournament in the U.S. This year's Classic had more than 400 entries representing 72 high schools from 17 states.

The Classic is an enormous undertaking staffed by our athletes, their parents, team alumni and coaches - no one works longer or harder than our athletes. It takes a day just to convert the gym to an air rifle range with 57 firing lanes. Nearly 3,000 targets are fired and scored and the results bulletin runs more than 40 pages. Chris Whitlock fired a 569/600 to lead our four-man team to a sixth place finish.

Our setbacks came late in the season. The team's favorite competition of the year is an annual match with St. Louis University High School in March. The trip was cancelled the day of our departure by a sudden ice storm and there was no opportunity to reschedule.

The other setback was a "wakeup call" loss to Blackman High School in the State Junior Olympic Qualification Round Match the first weekend of April. We had beaten Blackman earlier in the year and got blindsided in the QR which determines who represents Tennessee in the Junior Olympic National Team Championship fired in July. We fired a good score; however, Blackman fired a great score and deserved to win. This will be the first summer in seven years that we have not gone to the national match. That will give us something to chew on over the summer.

We won half of our shoulder-to-shoulder matches and ended the season with a win in the State Championship - for the 12th year in a row.

An individual highlight of the year was Vic Goetz earning an invitation to compete at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs for the Junior Olympic Individual Air Rifle Championship. During three days of competition in early April against 80 of the top junior shooters in the nation, he placed in the middle of the pack but learned a great deal for next year.

Two of our athletes, Chris Whitlock and Vic Goetz, were selected as members of the Tennessee High School All-State Rifle Team while Gray Taylor and Alex Fettroll were named All-State Honorable Mention.

At the Spring Sports Assembly the following individuals were recognized for special contributions to the team: Bravo Squad Fitness Award - Franklin Gaglione; Alpha Squad Fitness Award - Vic Goetz; Most Improved Athlete - Alex Fettroll, and Most Valuable Rifle Athlete - Chris Whitlock.

All our top shooters will be returning next fall determined to build on what we learned this year! --Coach Lujan

Varsity Basketball

Robbie posts up for the dunk.

Grant takes a quick breather.

MBA's Varsity Basketball team finished its 2007-2008 season with a record of 14-11. Beginning the season with a 2-0 start by crushing Ezell Harding by 32 points and overpowering Culleoka by 9, the Big Red then experienced many ups and downs, with nine straight games of winning and losing back to back. The struggle continued with a four-game losing streak to Father Ryan, Dickson Co., JPII, and Ensworth. Similar to past years, the Big Red was able to bounce back and wake up in the months of January and February with an impressive eight-game winning streak, including one against the soon-to-be region champion Baylor. While defeating the first three out of the four teams during the drought, the basketball team also stunned rival Brentwood Academy for the first time in about 7 years and 12 meetings. Nevertheless, after a disappointing loss on senior night, the Big Red was seeking redemption against Brentwood Academy once again to advance to the quarterfinals of the region tournament. After putting up a fight during the first half, the team's season was cut short by another painful loss to the Eagles. With many memories on and off the court, the Big Red basketball team, led by 8 seniors, wants to thank Coach Anglin and Coach McMahan for their dedication and patience in directing us to another winning season.

Coach McMahan and Coach Anglin

Varsity Bowling

The 2007-2008 bowling team began its season with a goal of winning the state tournament. The team got off to a good start defeating rivals Father Ryan and Ensworth. However, the team was unable to beat JP2 (who went on to win the state tournament). High scores and great performances came from returning starters Will Andrews (junior), Caldwell Ritter (junior), Logan Lechleiter (junior), John Andrews (sophomore), and a new member to the team Charley Watkins (junior). The MBA bowling team lost in the quarterfinals at state, but bowled the highest total pins ever in MBA history, 3,495 pins. Although the team did not accomplish its goal of a state championship, the team played with MBA pride and is ready to be led to victory next year by Will Andrews, team captain for the 2008-2009 season.

Chris led the team in scoring with 21 goals and 9 assists and was a four-year member of the Big Red Hockey Team.

Captain Chris Fike

Assistant Captain Rob Broadhurst

Rob was a captain of the team his senior year, and won the Ro Cheadle award for leadership, commitment, and love of the game.

The 2007-2008 MBA hockey team finished the regular season with a winning record of 13-7-1. With a young team of only two seniors and eleven freshmen, the Big Red finished third at the end of the regular season, but fell short of their goal of making it to the state tournament. The team started the season with early losses to BGA and JPII. The team rebounded and went on an eight-game winning streak, including two decisive wins over Mt. Juliet. Highlights of the season included playing Ensworth's first hockey team, a 10-0 victory for MBA, and defeating JPII, their only loss of their season with a 2-1 upset. In the playoffs the Big Red went out in the third round with a playoff record of 1-2, which included tough losses to both JPII and Hendersonville. Senior center Chris Fike, the team captain, led the team in scoring with 21 goals and 9 assists. Junior Crawford Standard, an assistant captain, followed with 14 goals and 13 assists. Eddie Lang with 15 goals and 5 assists, David Dalton with 6 goals and 13 assists, and Zach Turner with 2 goals and a team high 16 assists rounded out the teams five leading scorers.

Seniors Chris Fike and Rob Broadhurst led the young team with the help of juniors Allen Miller, Bailey Brandon, and Crawford Standard. Helped by a strong defense, the freshman goalies Nick Bessette and Alex Austin backed the Big Red's freshman-heavy team. Although many others were deserving, Bailey Brandon and David Dalton were selected to the league's all-star team along with Chris Fike who was voted team captain for the North.

The 2007-2008 MBA hockey team would like to thank Coach Harvey and everyone who supported the team this year. With an older and more experienced team, along with the return of four of the five leading scorers, the hockey team looks forward to a promising 2008-2009 season.

Jimmy Balser absolutely refuses to wear a shirt in the swimming area.

The 2007-2008 season was the most successful ever in the history of the varsity swim team. Because the team was the largest swim team MBA has ever had, the Big Red was able to use its depth and senior leadership of Curtis Lovelace and Tyler Ramsden to blow by its opponents. The team ended the dual meet season undefeated with a record of 4-0, defeating strong teams such as Franklin, Ravenwood, and Smyrna. Also, defending region champion, Brentwood, timidly forfeited the duel meet against the Big Red rather than lose the meet. Riding the momentum from the regular season, MBA went on to win the Region Championships for the first time in ten years, scoring 344 points to Brentwood's 299. The team claimed second place in three relays as well as scoring huge points with nine individual scorers. Curtis Lovelace set new region records in the 100 Breaststroke and 200 I.M. with his first-place finishes.

Two weeks later, the swim team gave another great performance at the State Championships. Competing against every school in the state, MBA swam to a second-place finish, a miraculous improvement from the 12th-place finish last year. This performance was MBA's highest place ever at the meet. The meet got started with a second-place finish in the 200 Medley Relay with a team of Jack Murfee, Chase Lovelace, Curtis Lovelace, and Paschall Davis, barely missing the school record. Next, MBA displayed its dominance in the 200 I.M. with 3 swimmers in the finals.

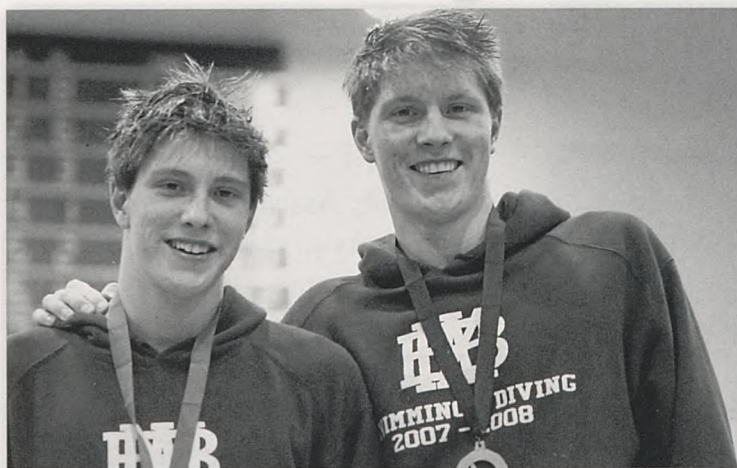

Freshmen Chase Lovelace and Jarvis Werkhaven came in 2nd and 7th place respectively. Curtis won the event while setting a new state record. Junior Paschall Davis exerted strong force in the sprint events, claiming 3rd in both the 50 and 100 Freestyle. His blazing 50 time was well under the school record. Pat Killian and Seth Akers-Campbell also contributed important points in the freestyle events. Sophomore Jack Murfee performed well in the 100 Backstroke, taking 4th place in a very fast event. In the last individual event, the 100 Breaststroke, MBA again dominated the field. Identical to the I.M., Chase and Jarvis came in 2nd and 7th again with Curtis winning the event. Curtis's time destroyed the state record and was the fastest high school time in the country. In the final event of the meet, MBA locked up its second-place finish with a 3rd in the 400 Free Relay. As a result of Curtis' two state records, he was selected as the Tennessee high school swimmer of the year.

Overall, the swim team had a fantastic year and exceeded expectations. First year coach, Mike Dobbs, and Coach Trembley really inspired the team by challenging everyone to higher goals. Look for more high finishes in the future as the young team builds on its rich traditions. Next year, watch out for Big Red swimmers to claim more state titles and challenge defending champion Baylor for the team crown.

The 2007-2008 Big Red Varsity Wrestling team had an up and down season. Having lost a large class of seniors, several state placers and a state champion, and with few seniors to replace them, the young team had a rebuilding year. Several of MBA's top wrestlers were injured at the beginning of the season, including state champion Jeff Francis as well as Max Jarrell, ranked third in the state. Christian Waddey, a senior who took fifth place as a sophomore, could not wrestle until the state tournament. Ben Bartholomew, a senior and state champion from the previous season, was injured for the season. Matthew Bellet, a sophomore who was a freshman city champion the previous year, had a stress fracture which kept him out for the season as well.

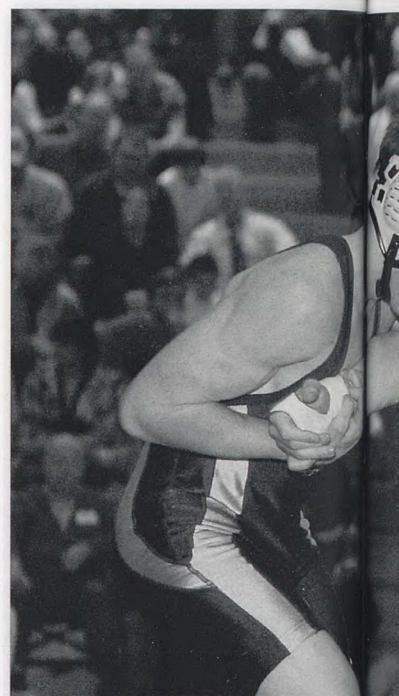

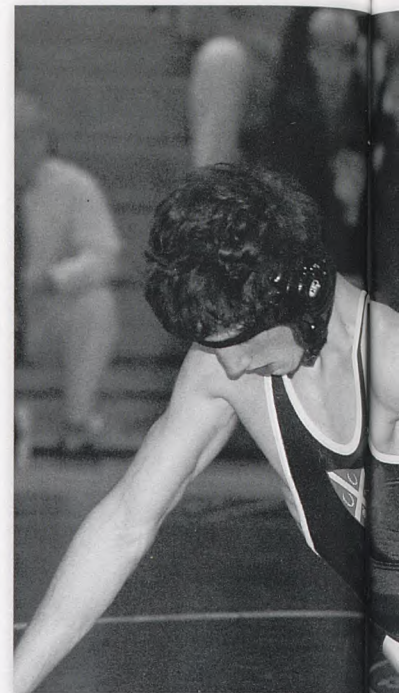

The Big Red started off the season with the Blackhorse Invitational at Houston High School. Although M.B.A. did not place very high as a team, it had two first-place finishes from Mark Simpson and Luke Bellet. The Big Red then lost two dual meets to the very talented Brentwood High and Overton High teams. Next they traveled to the McCallie Invitational where Luke Bellet and Daniel Todd placed fourth, and Mark Simpson was sixth. In the MBA duals, MBA experienced its first success as a team defeating Franklin Road Academy. They followed with close losses to East Literature Magnet and Tullahoma, where Ben Bartholomew hurt his shoulder. MBA found more success, soundly defeating Hendersonville and then traveled to Georgia for a dual tournament at Collins Hill with some very powerful teams. Although the Big Red did not win a single dual meet at Collins Hill, the losses inspired improvement. A strong coaching staff of Frank Simpson, Jay Jenkins, Stephen Shone, Ritch Gillespie, Will McMurray, and Ed Tarkington saved them from further defeat, while Patrick Simpson, an MBA graduate and recently graduated division one college wrestler, also helped out before deploying to Iraq as an officer in the Army Infantry. In the practice room these coaches taught the Big Red to replace what it lacked in talent with heart and determination.

MBA went to the prestigious Father Ryan Invitational and placed several wrestlers including a first place from Jeff Francis and a runner-up finish for Luke Bellet. The Big Red then encountered an outstanding Clarksville; they outdid themselves, losing by a margin of six points. They then took a dip losing to a talented Brentwood Academy, the match in which Max Jarrell first entered the season. However, MBA rallied to defeat Ensworth as well as dominate Pope John Paul II. In the final match before state, MBA lost to the experienced eventual state championship team Father Ryan, but not without putting up seventeen points, an unexpected high, on the scoreboard. MBA opened up the state duals losing to the eventual champions of Baylor. The next day they defeated St. Benedict handily. Then the Big Red had a major highlight of their year coming close to Christian Brothers, who had nearly beaten Father Ryan, in an exciting match. At the state individuals MBA took fifth, a very good finish to an uphill year. In sixth place was eighth grader Daniel Bellet. Finishing fourth were senior Christian Waddey, junior John Floyd, and freshman Mark Simpson. In third were senior Luke Bellet and sophomore Daniel Todd. Losing the finals match voted "Best Match," junior Jeff Francis took second place. Max Jarrell closed MBA's tournament clinching the state title at 171 pounds. Overall, MBA had an average season with several highlights, but most importantly, the young team rebuilt and gained valuable experience for the next season.

Senior Johnny Mishu led the team in hits (45), runs batted in (36), and batting average (.549) and posted 4 wins, 3 losses, 47 strikeouts, and a 3.05 earned run average as a pitcher.

Senior Jon Eisen led the team in stolen bases (16) and had 33 hits, 33 runs, 24 RBIs, and a .371 batting average.

Big Red Baseball had a successful 2008 season, finishing with a 19-12-1 record. The team won two games before Spring Break. The annual Spring Break trip to Phoenix included several big wins, as the team went 2-2-1 in the Eagle Invitational against teams from Arizona, Oklahoma, and California.

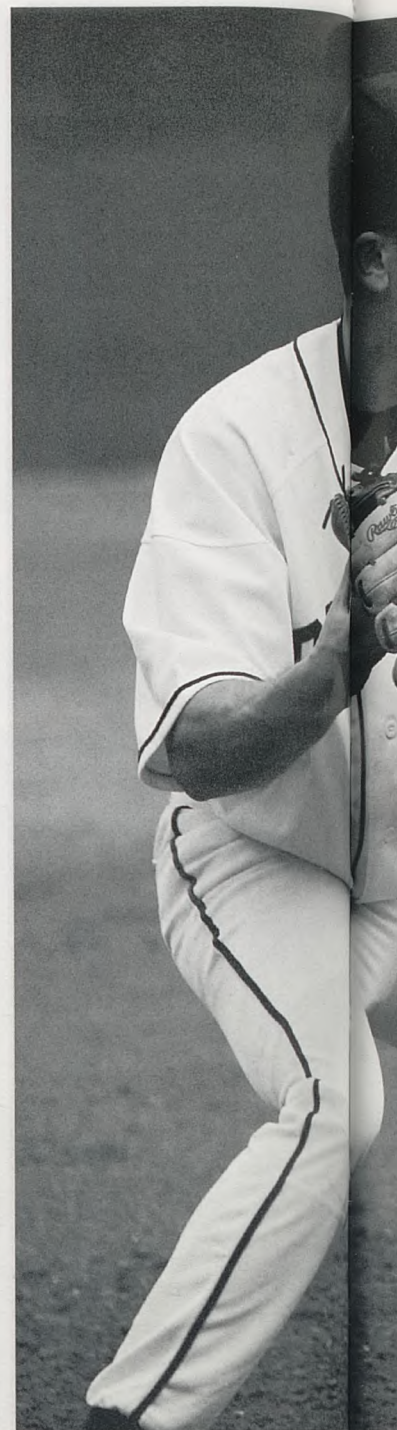

The first anticipated series of the year took place in April, as BA and MBA locked horns in divisional play. The Big Red took the first game 4-2, lost game two, but rebounded by winning the final game 5-1. After a tough series against BGA, the Big Red swept Ensworth, outscoring them 22-2 in the third regional series of the season. MBA then defeated a tough Centennial team 9-3, and proceeded to sweep JP II in their series match-up in late April.

After a victory against neighborhood foe Hillsboro High School, the team had two tough losses in May to rival Father Ryan, but avoided a sweep by winning the final game of the series 11-4. The Big Red entered tournament play in 4th place. MBA won the first game of the tournament, but lost two tough games to end the run for the Big Red. However, the baseball team had an exciting season for the fans and players, and the Big Red played hard throughout the year.

The 2008 MBA Lacrosse team completed a very successful season, going 9-6.

The Big Red was defeated by a very talented MUS team in the state semifinals. The lacrosse team began the season with numerous positions to fill, adding fourteen new players to the roster. The season was highlighted with wins over Libertyville (IL), Ravenwood, and Christian Brothers.

Younger players stepped-up throughout the season and showed tremendous promise for the future. The Big Red was anchored by a veteran defense of Mac Berklacich, Charlie Christofersen, Jay Milam, and Chase Taylor.

Junior goalie Bailey Brandon, team MVP, will look to return as the top goalie in the state next year. The offense was aided by seniors Sloan Sanders, Swan Burrus, Carl Grote, and Mike Byrge. George Curtis, Sam Lincoln, Kile Garrett, and Clay Adams filled roles on offense and will look to lead the team next year.

The Big Red produced five all-state players, with Mac Berklacich, Swan Burrus, and Mike Byrge earning Honorable Mention All-State and Bailey Brandon and Sloan Sanders both receiving 2nd-Team All-State. The lacrosse team will say goodbye to nine seniors while looking ahead to next year in their quest for a State Championship.

The MBA soccer team had a rough end to a good season. The team performed well throughout the whole season but could not advance beyond the quarterfinals in the state tournament. After a Cinderella-like run in the regional competition where MBA beat BGA in a brilliant come-from-behind win, Father Ryan knocked out the Big Red in the quarterfinals of the state tournament.

With only four seniors rostered, the team's expectations were not as high as last year's. The goal was to have fun and make it as far as possible in the regional and state tournaments. Having graduated the majority of the team last year, this year's team was looking for the underclassmen to step up and fill the gaps. Five freshmen, three sophomores, eight juniors and four seniors assembled to "have a go" at the opposition.

After three games, the soccer team still had no wins, and everyone was wondering if the year would be a disastrous one. Following a humiliating first loss to Independence, the squad headed up to JPII for the first league game of the year. JPII took an early lead but surrendered the lead after MBA showed some fighting spirit and went up 2-1. A late game comeback by JPII saw the resilient MBA side fated to two losses in a row. Next, Franklin High School proved a large portion for MBA to swallow, and the game ended in a tie, 1-1. Three games, two losses, one tie.

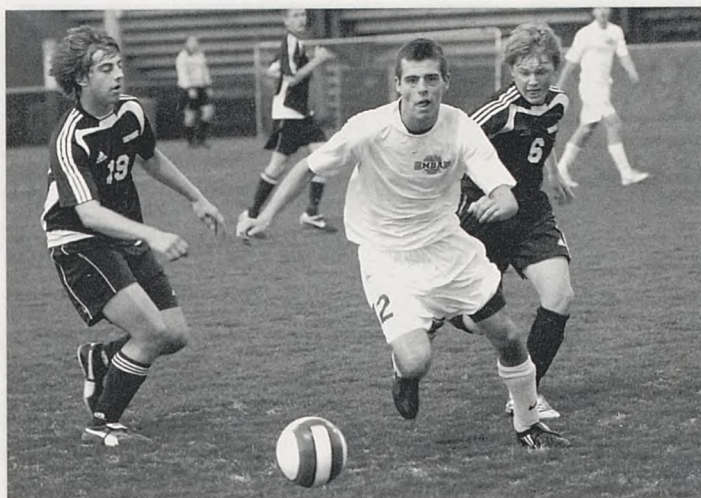

Over the next eight games, the team bonded together and did not lose a single match. Freshman Goalie Alex Blanton with help from a strong defense anchored by Max Jarrell built a brick wall in front of the goal as the offense produced multiple goal games. Late goals by both Andrew Fletcher against BGA and Houston Oldham against BA kept the Big Red highly ranked within regional competition. Freshman Ryan Shepherd and German exchange student Uli Kaulfuss helped solidify the middle of the field. These eight games without a loss boosted the team's morale as they headed into the regional tournament.

The final five games of the season saw the Big Red hit emotional highs and lows. When MBA traveled to Father Ryan, the squad did not show up to play and were turned over by a strong Ryan team. Next, two come-from-behind wins in the regional tournament gave MBA a third-place finish and qualified them for the State Tournament. The victory over BGA in the regional tournament marked the best game of the year as MBA battled a full-strength opposition and came from a goal down to win the game in the last fifteen minutes. Finally, the Big Red's run came to an end with another defeat to Father Ryan in the first round of State.

All in all, the season was good as this year's team matched the performance of the team from last year by reaching the state tournament. Good job, men, and best of luck next year!

If bowling, as Commander Carr puts it, is the "Rodney Dangerfield of MBA sports," then Ultimate Frisbee is Rodney's pet gerbil. We get no respect. After four years of playing Ultimate Frisbee, practicing outside throughout the entire winter, and traveling to tournaments during the spring, a frisberian has yet to receive a Varsity Letter, or a Coaches' Award, or a spot in one of Mr. Rozario's highlight videos, or any athletic recognition at all. In fact, no one in the team's history has ever gotten any varsity credit for playing Frisbee nor signed with any college to play Frisbee. If fifteen people showed up to watch a Frisbee game, there would be more fans at that game than I've ever seen at all the other games combined. And, because of the important announcements shown on the campus TVs, most MBA students and faculty probably know more about the stars and victories of Junior School Intramurals than they do about Ultimate Frisbee. To add insult to injury, the Frisbee team has to drive to 42nd Street every day to practice so that seventh graders can play freeze tag on the lower fields for Intramurals. It is this lack of outside support that brings the players on the MBA Ultimate Frisbee Team closer together. We must support each other and cheer on our own players when we score. In accordance, however, we must also put down our own teammates when they perform badly.

Despite our many injustices, this year's Ultimate Frisbee team had an influx of new players and a talented team that scored several impressive victories over teams such as USN, Brentwood High, MLK, Tulane, and Frisbee Powerhouse Southern Polytechnic Institute. Overall, we were B-Bracket Champions in the two college tournaments in which we played and we were runner-up in the state tourney. The team is graduating four-year seniors Ben Crownover, Morey Hill, and Will Hannon (be sure to pick up your blanket in the Athletic Office!). However, the team will continue to thrive with a strong group of rising seniors.

The tennis team began working out in early fall with expectations of having a tough season with only one senior, Jim Shaub, and two juniors, Richard Brunsting and Leland Bandlow. Once the season began, the team took down long time rival University School of Jackson in a 6-3 battle. However, a few weeks later they traveled to Chattanooga and had a tough weekend, losing to a strong McCallie team and not performing as well as they had hoped in the Chattanooga Rotary. Upon return to Nashville the team went straight to work, and beat local teams such as BGA, BA, Father Ryan, Lone Oak and Ensworth with a combined record of 43-2. During that time the team traveled to Kentucky for the St. Xavier Invitational, beating Ohio's defending state champions, Indian Hill and the defending state champions from Kentucky and long time rival St. X. Richard Brunsting clinched the victory for MBA in a third set tie-break despite cramping near the end of the match. Two weeks later the team earned instate respect as they came in 3rd in the Carter Invitational against the same teams that had given them earlier trouble in Chattanooga. The team then hosted Chips, Cheese, and Chadalavada, giving out free SATCO to students who came to watch the noon match against a tough Knoxville Webb team. Senior Jim Shaub threw up twice during his singles match but managed to still bring in a victory for the Big Red, however the team faced a disappointing loss 4-3. Then going on to beat Chattanooga powerhouse Baylor 6-1, MBA secured a 3 seed for the state tournament. After a dominating 5-0 win over Christian Brothers, MBA lost to a talented McCallie team in the semi final match. However, with almost the entire team returning, and a strong incoming freshman class, the Big Red Tennis Team has high hopes for the future.

Senior Christian Waddey was a two-time state pole vault champion and set a new school and state record with his vault of 15'11".

Senior Tyler Ramsden won the city 3200 meter championship for the second year in a row.

The 2007 MBA Track and Field team had a successful season. The year began with numerous dual-meet victories and strong showings in Vanderbilt's Great 8 and McCallie's Mid-South Invitational. Ultimately, team depth was the story of the year, propelling the Big Red to 1st-place finishes in The Highland Games(1/8), Doug Hall Relays(1/15), Hill Center Nashville City Championships(1/20), and TSSAA D2 Region(1/8) despite few individual champions.

Throughout the season, all MBA field events performed well. In the Highland Games, Ben Bartholomew took home the coveted broad sword signifying the games' Big Man Award for his performances in the discus, caper toss, and stone throw. In the Doug Hall Relays, MBA set new meet records in the discus relay (Scott Bubis, Matt Ferrell, and Austin Locke) and pole vault relay (Christian Waddey, Leland Howe, and Baker Mulherin). The field events gave MBA a solid lead, and they easily cruised to a 1st-place finish out of 15. At the City, an early lead from field events and Tyler Ramsden's 1st place in the 3200 allowed the team to hold off any other contenders. In the Region, Christian Waddey tied his own school record of 15'1" in the pole vault, Patrick Crum won the long jump, and Ryan Hill finished 2nd in the 3200, each contributing to the 45-point lead MBA had built up heading into the running finals, where they squeaked by BA to win by 2 points.

Individual point leaders for the year were seniors E.J. Vinsang, Tyler Ramsden, and Ben Bartholomew. E.J. Vinsang carried the team to its first Division II Regional Championship in 6 years, scoring 40 of the team's 198 points. He placed first in the triple jump, second in the decathlon, 110 highs, 300 ims, and third in the long jump while qualifying for the TSSAA State Track Meet in all of these events. Tyler Ramsden was the only individual running champion in the City Championships, winning both the 3200 and the 1600 and leading the team to its third title in a row. He was by all accounts the premier MBA distance runner. Ben Bartholomew was the constant favorite throughout the season to win the shot put as well as a strong contributor in the discus. This senior leadership will be sorely missed in the coming years, but a strong crop of younger runners will fill the gaps. Overall, MBA had a successful track season, and the athletes made the program proud.

Interact

In its second year at MBA, the Interact-Rotary Service Club continued to expand its involvement on campus and in Nashville under the direction of board members Worth Baker, Mike Byrge, Dalton Fouts, Pat Killian, and advisor Herr Sawyer. Throughout the academic year, Interact forged strong relationships with United Cerebral Palsy of Tennessee and Second Harvest Food Bank. Interact participated in building several wheelchair ramps for UCP, and it sponsored a holiday food drive for UCP's needy families. With the continued support of Green Hills Rotarians and MBA alums Hank Davis and Paul Steele, Interact became regularly involved with Second Harvest Food Bank's Backpack Project, benefitting students of Cockrill Bend Elementary School in Nashville. In addition to its work with UCP and Second Harvest, Interact served Percy Warner Park by participating in a park clean-up day and the Nashville Red Cross by ushering its annual chapter breakfast. Volunteers also set up for and staffed the Juvenile Diabetes Research Fund Walk in the Fall. Joining the board for 2008-2009 are Ian Preston and Matt Bracy.

African American Studies

Founded and directed by Rasha' Harvey, the African American Studies Club promotes the awareness of African American culture on the MBA campus. The club hosts meetings twice a month during the activity period, usually in the Library Conference Room. Each meeting is filled with insightful discussions led by club officers and members concerning topics that range from Jena 6 to emerging gang violence in Nashville. The African American Studies Club, along with the Government Club and The MLK Society, spearheaded MBA's first involvement in the city-wide MLK March. The club motto is embodied within the ethos of the organization: "Now is the accepted time, not tomorrow, not some more convenient season. It is today that our best work can be done and not some future day or future year. It is today that we fit ourselves for the greater usefulness of tomorrow. Today is the seed time, now are the hours of work, and tomorrow comes the harvest and the playtime." (W.E.B. DuBois)

Junior Honor Society

The purpose of the Junior Honor Society is to recognize those students who have distinguished themselves academically during their early years at MBA. In order to be eligible, a student must have three consecutive semesters with an average of 90 each semester during the 7th-8th, 8th-9th, and 9th-10th grades. These semester averages must be earned at MBA and cannot be transferred from a previous school's records. After six semesters have been completed in the high school, students are dropped from the Junior Honor Society. A student must maintain an 85 average to remain in the Society.

Mr. Steve Zager delivers the 2008 Commencement Address

Seniors John Moynihan and Austin Musice listen to the speeches during graduation.

The MBA Chorus sings Be Thou My Vision arranged by Director David Cassel.

Excerpts from Mr. Zager's Commencement Address

"... But, all of us can be gentlemen. And, that is what sets an MBA graduate apart from the graduates of other fine schools. Perhaps that is why "gentleman" comes first in the MBA ideal, because it informs every aspect of how we lead our lives."

"... Today, I want to talk with you about three virtues gentlemen share: the virtues of compassion, honor and grace."

"... Winston Churchill wrote, "We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give." Compassion is how we make a life."

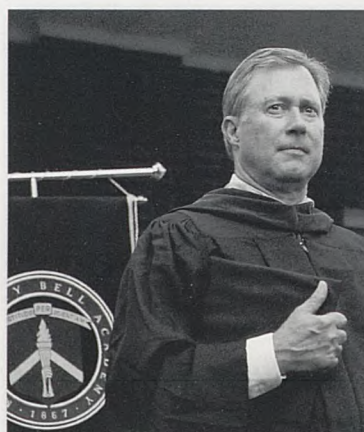

"... My grandfather liked to say that no man can take from you your integrity, but you can give it away. You can give it away by breaking your word. Honor is keeping your word."

"... Grace is something more than humility. Ernest Hemingway wrote that "courage is grace under pressure."

"... Today you graduates of the class of 2008 finish a marvelous chapter and join a fraternity of extraordinary gentlemen. Everything you have learned at MBA has prepared you to write the story of a life of compassion, honor and grace; the story of a life that matters."

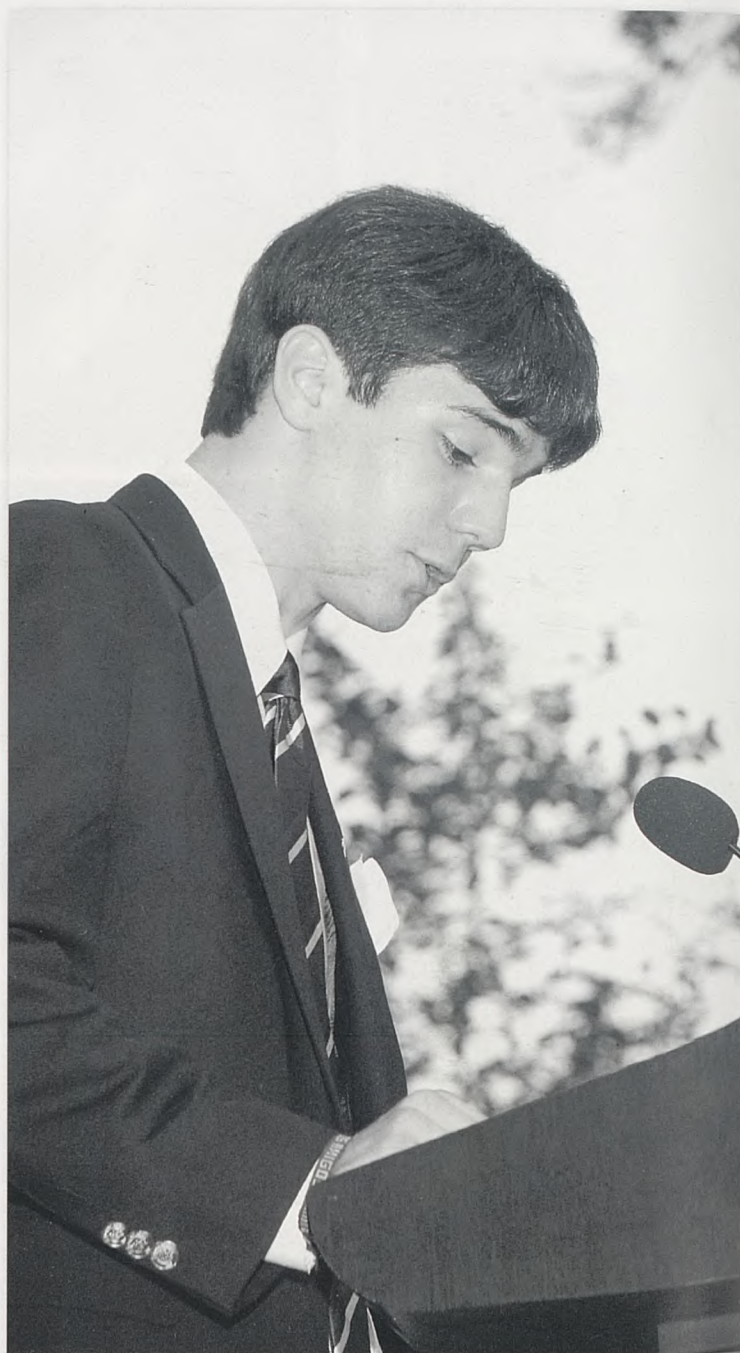

Mrs. Christeson scans the audience for Cicero.

Above: Chairman James A. Webb, III awards the diplomas to the Class of 2008.

Right: Senior Worth Baker delivers the invocation.

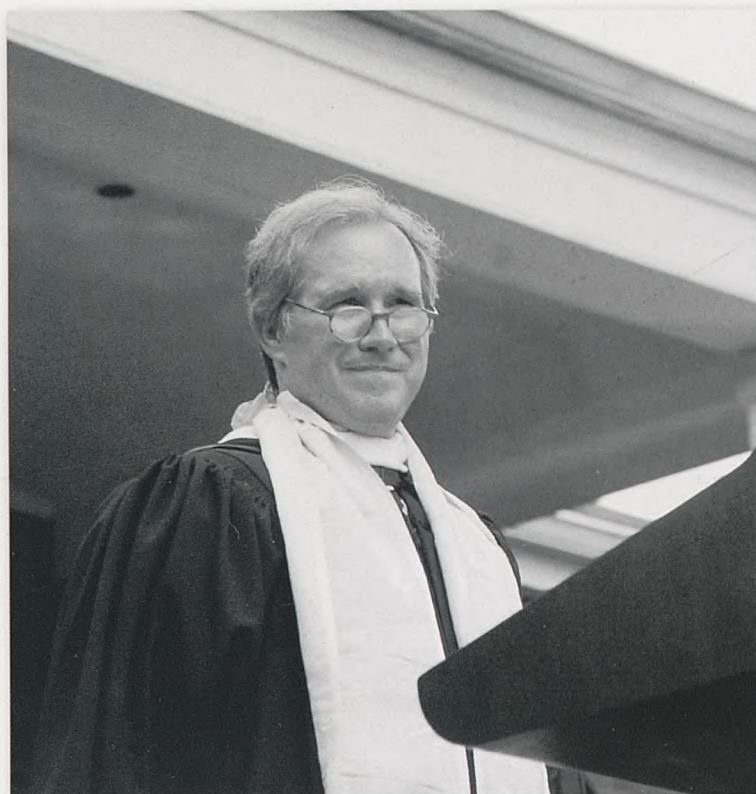

Commencement

Above: Headmaster Brad Gioia gives the history of the commencement ceremony.

Mr. Ardisson finds Mr. McMurray quite amusing.

Seniors Daniel Leader (L) and Chase Lovelace (R) prepare for their High School Graduation.

Mr. Webb congratulates Taylor Smyth on the big night.

Presented at MBA on October 4, this year's one-act competition piece was Tom Griffin's often humorous and always poignant The Boys Next Door, a tale of the daily struggle for survival faced by four mentally handicapped men who live in a group home. The cast did an outstanding job with a very tough play. At the city-wide contest on October 6, Will Holt (playing "Arnold") and Daniel Smith (playing "Lucien") were named to the All-Star Cast List. Others in the cast were Brendan Mayhew, Jimmy Russell, Tommy Harless, Ben Mecklenborg, Dalton Fouts, and Lewis Armistead.

STEPHANIE ROTHENBERG

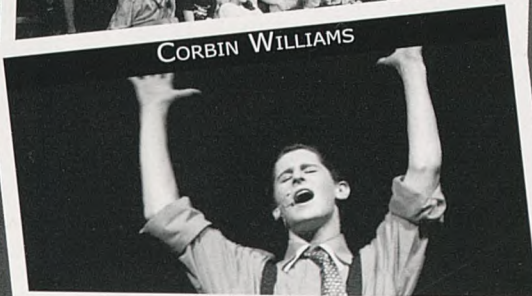

Our tenth collaboration with Harpeth Hall was a zany 1920's musical—Thoroughly Modern Millie—featuring fabulous flappers, dashing leading men, and a dragon-lady of a villainess whom audiences loved to hate. As the story unfolds, Millie Dillmount (Stephanie Rothenberg) moves to the city in search of a new life for herself. She looks for the perfect boss (Ryan Penney as Trevor Graydon) to marry but accidentally falls in love with the wayward Jimmy Smith (Corbin Williams) instead. This exciting world of love, business, and intrigue is set to a terrific jazz score! Additional superb performances by Grace Douglas as Mrs. Meers, Bennett Davidson as Ching Ho and Garrett Anglin as Bun Foo helped round out this madcap show. Ms. Janette Fox Klocko, who directed the musical, says "This has been one of the most focused and hard-working casts for a musical that I have worked with over the past 20 years. I am truly proud of their work as an ensemble. I hope they are as pleased as I am."

On-screen wit combined with backstage lunacy in George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart's spoof of Hollywood, Once in a Lifetime tells the story of three washed-up vaudeville comedians—Jerry Hyland (Brendan Mayhew), George Lewis (Bennett Davidson) and May Daniels (Caroline Winsett). Hoping to "strike gold," they traveled to California to become voice coaches for movie stars struggling to make the shift from silent film to talkies. This larger-than-life production featured a cast and crew of over fifty, original silent films, greyhound dogs, fuzzy red chairs, and eight-foot portraits of Bennett as a film mogul. Director Cal Fuller says, "Kaufman and Hart's insightful wit and adventuresome spirit shine in MBA's marvelous cast and crew. I encourage them to face the world with May's ingenuity, Jerry's optimism, and George's determination — cornerstones of success on stage or off."

In February, Malcolm Morrison directed The Visit by Friedrich Durrenmatt. This satirical story takes place in a depressed European village where the townspeople anxiously await the return of a native girl who has gone on to great wealth. They hope she will save the town with her financial generosity, but she has a sinister goal of revenge against her old boyfriend, passionately portrayed by Garrett Anglin ('08). Morrison said of his production: "This is a highly motivated and artistic company that has come together to produce this play. Their willingness, commitment and diligence to understand and perform Durrenmatt's masterpiece to its full potential has made a lasting impression on me." On March 8, in the middle of Nashville's biggest snowstorm of the season, Garrett Anglin also won first runner-up in the English-Speaking Union's regional Shakespeare Contest.

At the end of April, the students in Dr. Cal Fuller's Studio Theater class produced the 2008 One-Act plays ("A Stab in the Dark") as the culmination of a year of study and practice. The short plays were directed by seniors Bennett Davidson, Garrett Anglin, Brendan Mayhew, Jimmy Russell, Worth Baker, and Tom Wall. They featured especially strong performances by Austin Archer ('09), Warren Cook ('08), Will Holt ('09), Alex Martin ('09), and Tommy Harless ('10). Dr. Fuller admitted the challenges for seniors to "remain conscientious so late in the year," but he applauded their efforts: "Their passion for theater is insatiable. Mr. Morrison, Dr. Seay, and I appreciate the dedication of these young men and will miss them." He encouraged the audience: "Think back about what they have contributed to our stage over the past six years. As they graduate, I hope they take with them pleasant memories of what they have learned and humbly created while here on the hill."

The Debate Team

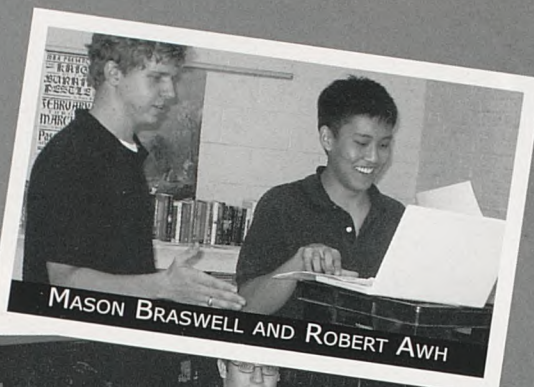

The MBA debate team continued its long tradition of success this year. The Policy Debate Team filled the void of very talented debaters who graduated last year and overcame the departure of the inspirational Mr. Risen. While the Extemporaneous Speaking (Extemp) Team had an abundance of senior leadership, the Lincoln-Douglas (LD) Debate Team consisted of one member, Corey Metzman.

The tournament at Wake Forest University was the first major tournament of the year. In the Wake Varsity policy division, the Mason Braswell/Micah Lutkowitz team and the Sam Page/Rahul Sastry team both advanced to the Round of 32. The Andrew Snow/Robert Awh team reached the semifinal round. The Junior Varsity Policy team of Wesley Wilson and Hershel Mehta were destined for success after Wesley purchased 22 accordion folders (or "Expandos") before the tournament. They reached the semi-final round of the JV division. Corey placed second in LD, Aaron Lutkowitz placed fourth in Extemp, and Max Webster won the tournament. Mr. Coverstone was proud that in a tournament hosted by his alma mater, MBA had the best performance in almost every event.

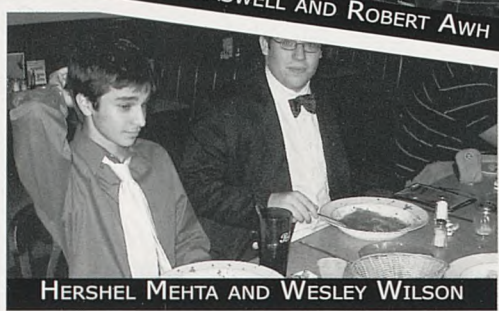

MBA later competed in the tournament at Samford University in Birmingham, AL. After beating Stratford Academy in a pre-elimination round, Sam and Rahul received a bid to the Tournament of Champions (TOC) by advancing to the final round of Varsity Policy. Mason and Micah also received a TOC bid by advancing to semi-finals. The novice team of Chunsoo Park and Jack Halleman were co-champions in their division. In Extemp, Aaron won first-place, Max second, Will Hannon third, and Tom Wall fourth. Contributions from the everyone earned the team the tournament sweepstakes award.

In the tournament at St. Mark's School in Dallas, the Extemp Team racked up many trophies after Aaron advanced to quarterfinals in International Extemp, and Will advanced to semifinals in Domestic Extemp and quarters in International. Max Webster received a second place award in Domestic and a third place award in International, and John Moynihan received a second place award in International and a fifth place award in Domestic. Robert and Andrew made it to quarterfinals in Varsity Policy.

and Hershel Mehta won the JV Policy division, giving MBA the Glenbrooks JV Champion trophy for the second consecutive year. The Chunsoo Park/Jack Halleman team and the Jesse Suh/Max Werthan team reached quarterfinals of the Novice Policy division. Corey advanced to the Round of 16, and Max Webster placed second in Extemp.

After second-semester partner changes, every policy debate team from MBA was hunting for a second bid in order to compete in the Tournament of Champions. At the Vestavia Hills High School debate tournament in Birmingham, the team of Robert Awh and Hershel Mehta received their second bid after finishing second in Varsity Policy. Robert received the Fourth Speaker award. The novice team of Jesse Suh and Justin Park also came in second in their division. Aaron continued MBA's consistent performance by placing 2nd in Extemp.

MBA performed very well the districts tournament. The policy team of Andrew Snow and Micah Lutkowitz came in second, and Corey was the champion of the LD division. Aaron, John, and Tom got first, second, and third respectively in International Extemp, a feat never before accomplished by one school in Tennessee. As a result of their achievements, Aaron, Corey, Micah, and Andrew will be competing in the National Forensics League Tournament in Las Vegas this summer.

The debate season ended with the Tournament of Champions, arguably the most competitive debate tournament of the year, in Lexington, KY. In Policy, Robert and Hershel finished 4-3, an impressive record for a team competing against the best in the country. In LD, Corey finished with an outstanding 5-2 record before losing in a runoff round.

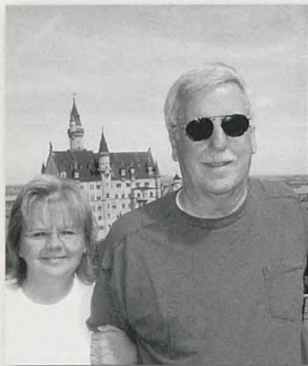

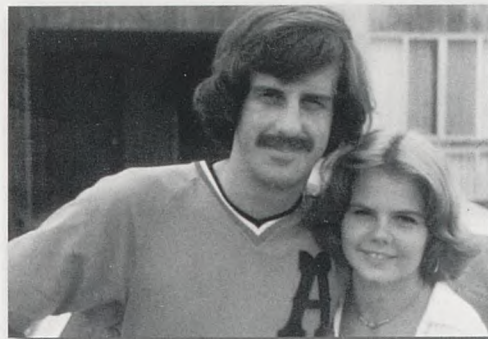

The Team tremendously appreciates and thanks the school for its continued support, which is critical to the success of the debate program at Montgomery Bell Academy

JUNIOR SCHOOL DEDICATION MR. PAT WOOLSEY

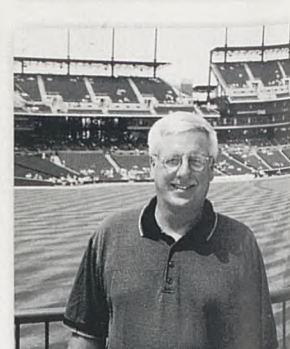

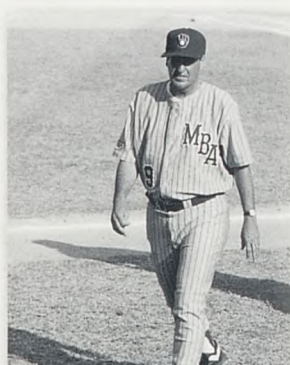

Coach Woolsey's Algebra class is so much more than just a math class. It is a highly entertaining blend of funny stories, life lessons, sports/intramurals updates, unforgettable quotes, and lastly, Algebra. Dedication and humility are also exemplified daily by Commissioner Woolsey. He did not miss one day this entire year, and he detests laziness and the skipping of school or work. This is just one of the myriad of good qualities that he tried to instill in us. His humble and stoic attitude stood constant throughout the year, as he taught us every day, even when the eminent cloud of worry for his son, Mathew, serving in Iraq, was hanging over his head. He exemplified patience numerous times to all four of his classes, but especially to his homeroom. Moving our desks forward every time he we were at the turning our desks and finally, turn-wards, were just that we pulled Although he these, he saw actions and was elementary acts I did not learn, Coach Woolsey Chattanooga turned around until front of the room, around backwards, ing his desk back-a few of the pranks on Mr. Woolsey. was angry about some humor in our able to handle these until recently, that is part of the UT Hall of Fame for his excellence in athletics. Mr. Woolsey, a very good athlete, would never boast about it because he is far too humble to brag. One of the Woolsey highlights of the year was the heated rivalry between Coach Woolsey and Coach Anderson, which consisted of practical jokes and endless taunting about age and other things. Another is the priceless quotes like, "Boy is that Miley Cyrus hot or what?" or "George has the maturity of a . . . BANANA!" or "I'd like to teach with a .22 revolver, and just shoot you if you got a problem wrong." He would motivate us by telling us that kindergarteners in China were doing the same math that we were, except that they were doing it well. Coach Woolsey accomplished a daunting task when he successfully made Algebra, which is a sure-fire cure for insomnia, into a lively, enjoyable class. It is for all of these reasons that the Class of 2012 dedicates the yearbook to Mr. Pat Woolsey.

THE HOBBIT

The third annual junior school play, The Hobbit, was a whimsical journey to Middle Earth. Rick Seay directed the adaptation, which featured original music by Kevin Fogarty, who wrote the music and lyrics for 2007's The Sword in the Stone. The show had 31 MBA 7th and 8th graders onstage with over another 20 working backstage. Actresses in the play came from St. Bernard Academy, Overbrook, and Harpeth Hall. A special treat was the dragon Smaug's booming and growling voice, provided by MBA Junior School director Peter Thurmond. In three performances, over 800 people saw the show, a fact that demonstrates yet again the incredible audience appeal of our talented junior school.

MICROBE WRESTLERS CLOSE OUT SUCCESSFUL SEASON

This year, the Big Red Microbe Wrestlers earned a second place finish in the HVAC Championship Tournament, narrowly losing out to Brentwood Academy. Despite going into the tournament without injured co-captain and defending HVAC champion John Mark Bellet, the team still finished a mere seven points behind BA. Co-captain Cayce Ortale defended his HVAC title at 75 lbs. and was named Outstanding Wrestler of the tournament. Daniel Bellet took the championship at 100 lbs.

Charlie Steere completed an undefeated season with his win at 175. Matthew Davidson and Mattison Hamilton also delivered exceptional performances, winning upset matches to take conference titles at 95 and 135 lbs, respectively. Second place finishers were George Swenson at 82, Kevin Murphy at 160, and Caleb Counce at Heavyweight. Third place finishers were Thomas Forcum at 107, Franklin Garsten at 120, Eric Owings at 127, and Clay Cauble at 145. Congratulations to all of the Big Red Microbe Wrestlers for a fine tournament performance and a great season!

Dear Ian,

It seems like just yesterday when you were walking around with your "Monkey" and "na-na" playing with your red Power Ranger and favorite Ninja Turtle, "Yeeanardo," or watching "Cinderelli." In what feels like overnight, you have grown into an amazing young man. You are the light of my life and a true joy to me every day. Not a minute goes by that I don't thank God for the gift of being your Mother.

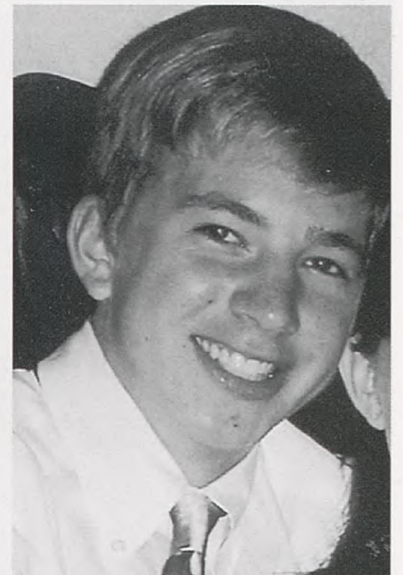

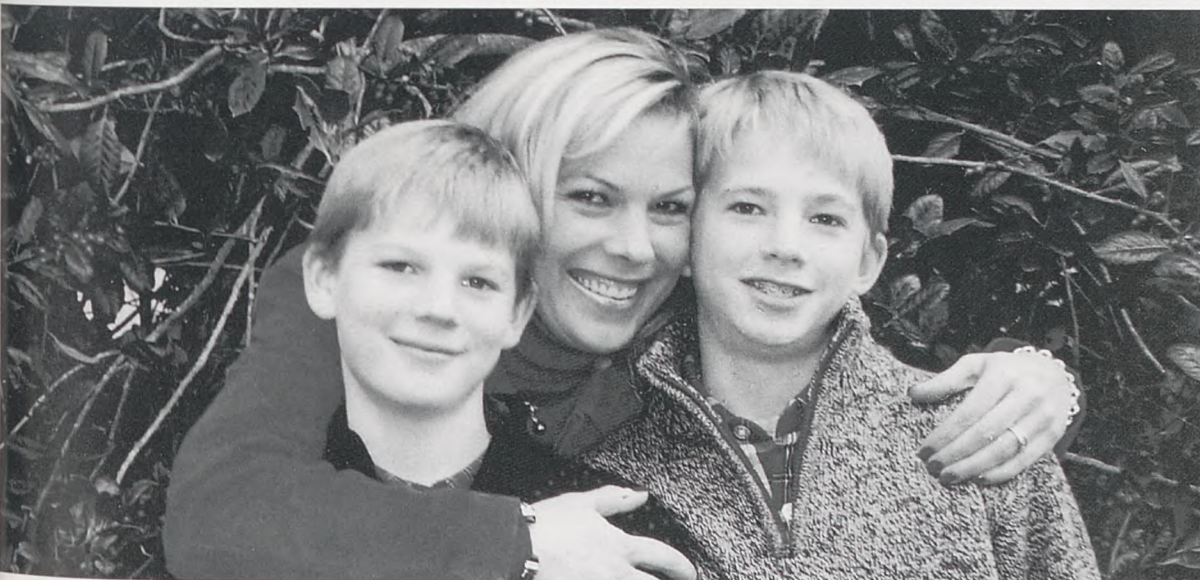

I can hardly stand the thought of your leaving for college next year, but I am comforted by the fact that I know you now have all the tools necessary to embrace what the future has to offer you. Go out in the world and show them everything I already have the honor of knowing.

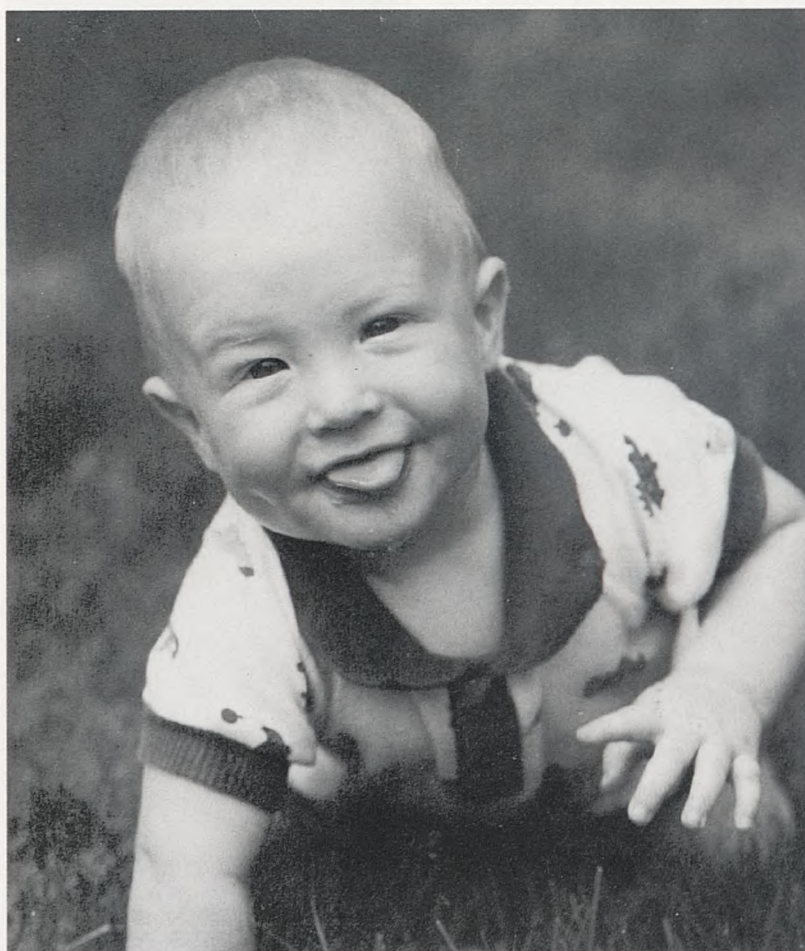

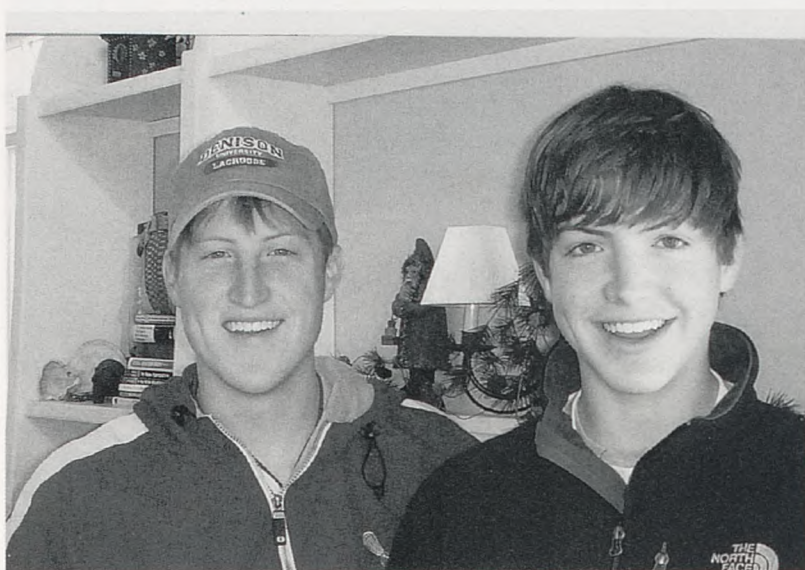

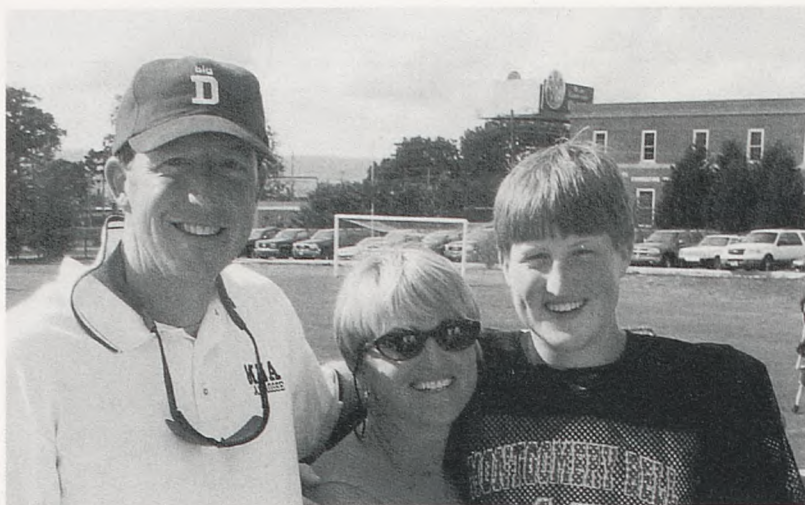

I am so proud to call you my son, even if you didn't like the name I gave you at birth. I still think Ian is much better than Ernie, but, yes, I agree, he is the most popular Muppet! Congratulations! You are my true gentleman, real scholar, and enduring athlete!

All my love,
Mom

Austin

You have been a tremendous blessing in our lives.
We have seen a young man who exemplifies unyielding values, shows
great qualities of leadership,

and has love
for family and friends.
Continue to trust in God and do your best. Cherish your past and look forward
to your future.
We will love
you always.

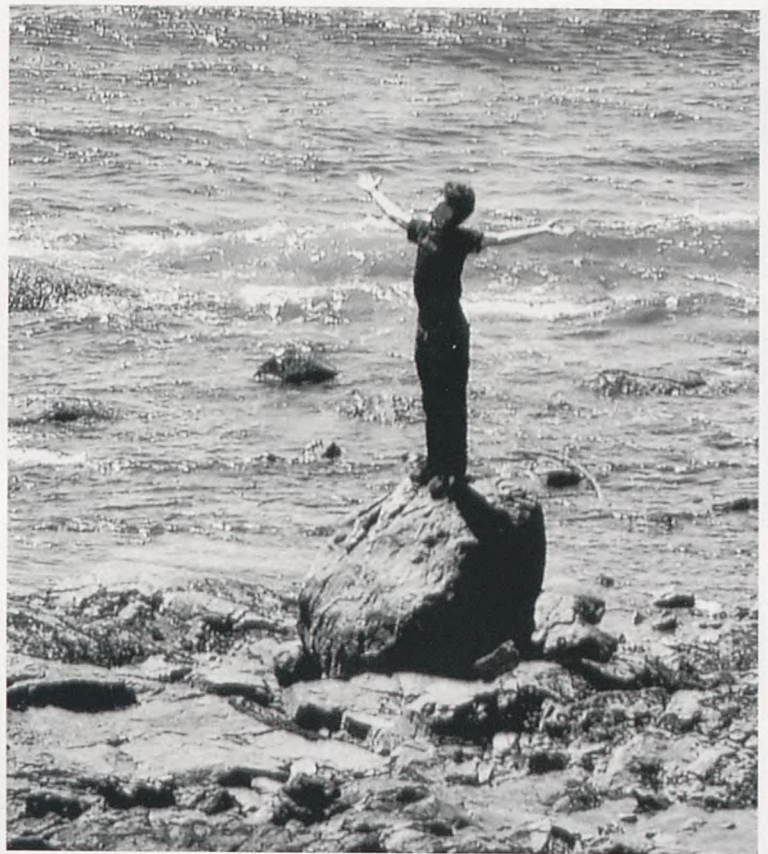

Love, Mom and Dad

You were a great baby,
A great brother,
A great student, a great actor,
A great friend - but most of all,
You are a great son!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Katie, and Matthew

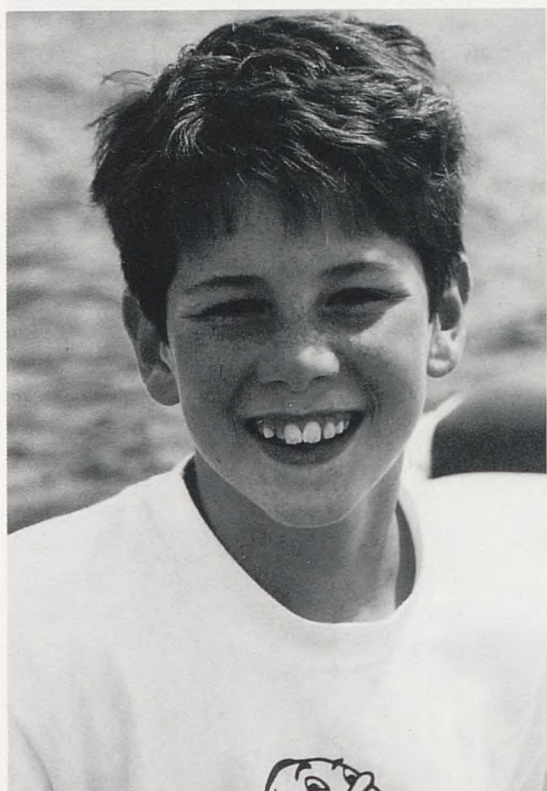

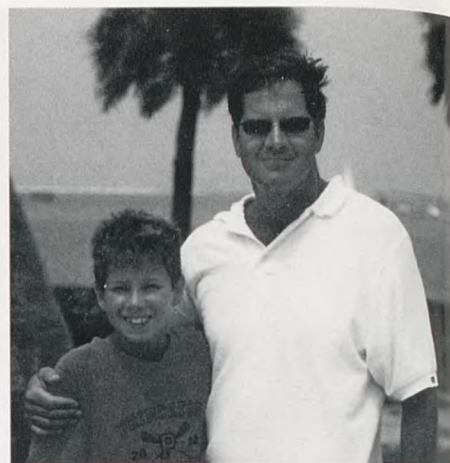

ENJOY THE REST OF YOUR JOURNEY. WE ARE SO PROUD OF THE PERSON YOU'VE BECOME.

LOVE,
MOM, DARRIN, ETHAN AND CATE

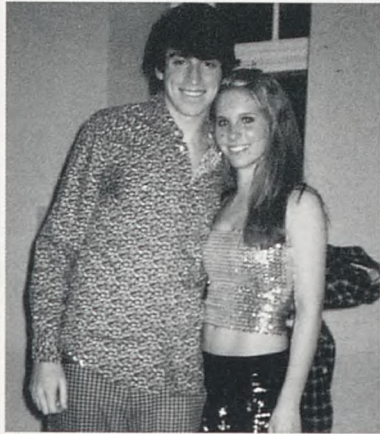

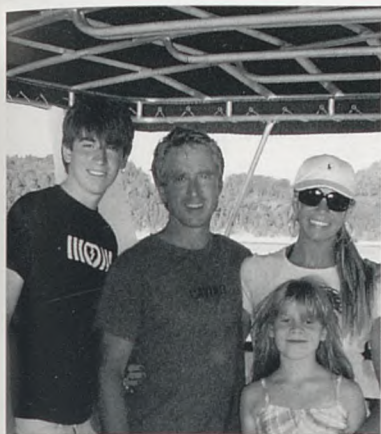

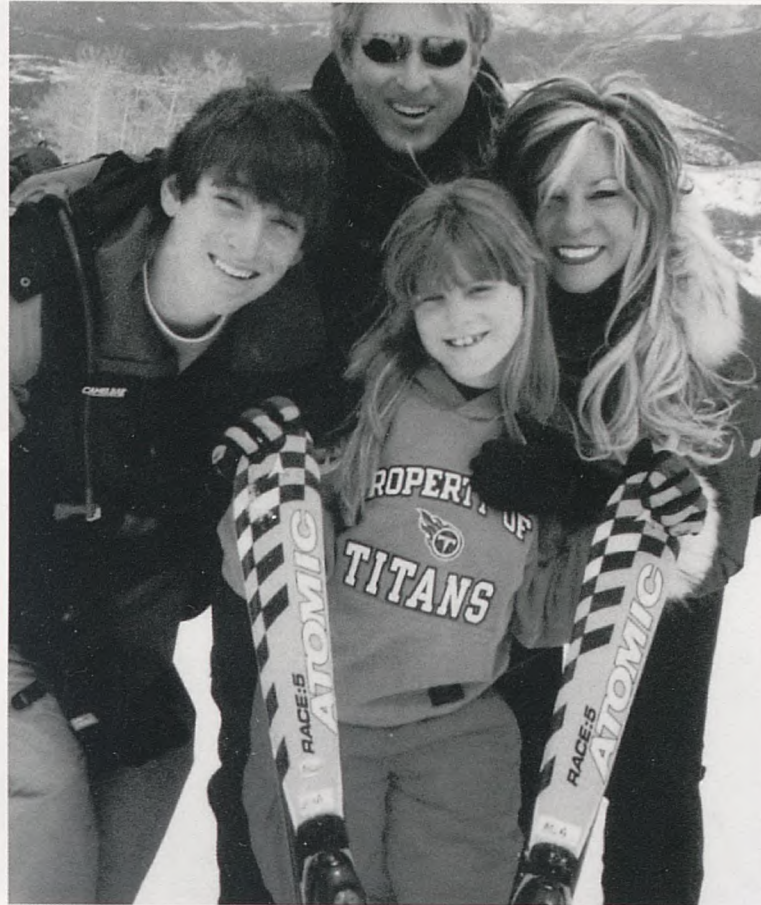

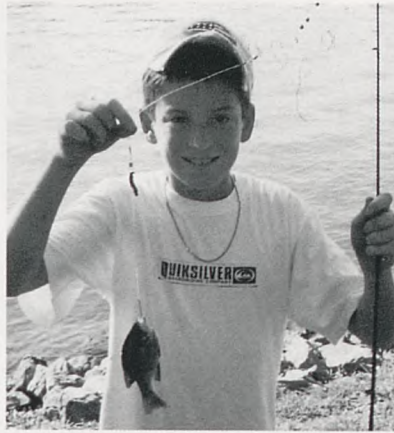

Congratulations, Lindsay!

LIFE IS NOT AS LONG AS IT SEEMS
MEMORIES SOON REPLACE ALL THE DREAMS
HOW FAST IT GOES ROUND LIKE THE
MERRY-GO-ROUND
THERE'S JUST ONE CHANCE AT THE RING.
NO, LIFE IS NOT AS LONG AS IT SEEMS.

MASON, ALWAYS CHOOSE THE
DREAMS THAT WILL MAKE YOU THE BEST MEMORIES.
LOVE,

For he has rescued us from the dominion of darkness and brought us into the kingdom of the son he loves, in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins.

Colossians 1:13-14

The lord himself goes before you and will be with you; he will never leave you nor forsake you. Do not be afraid. Do not be discouraged.

Deuteronomy 31:8

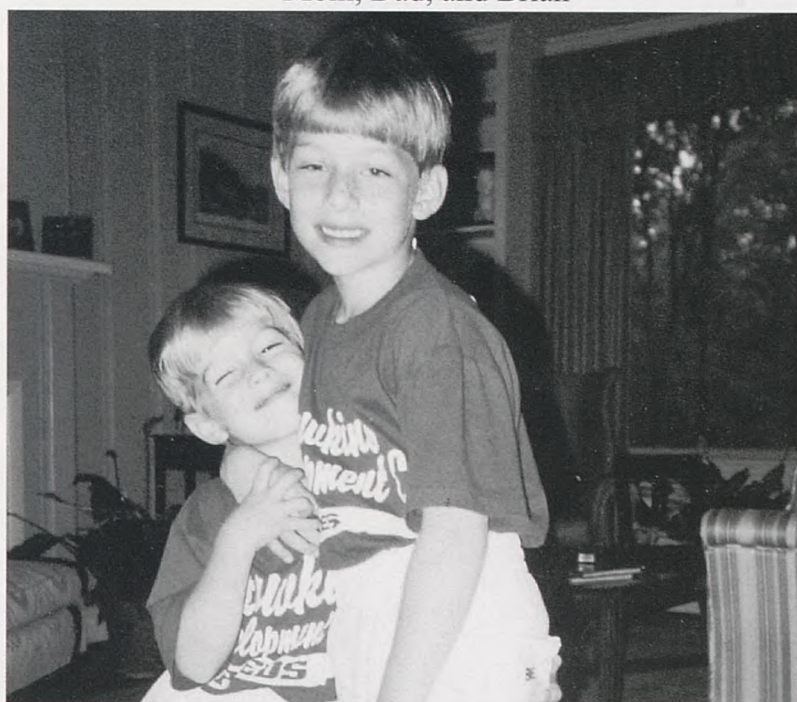

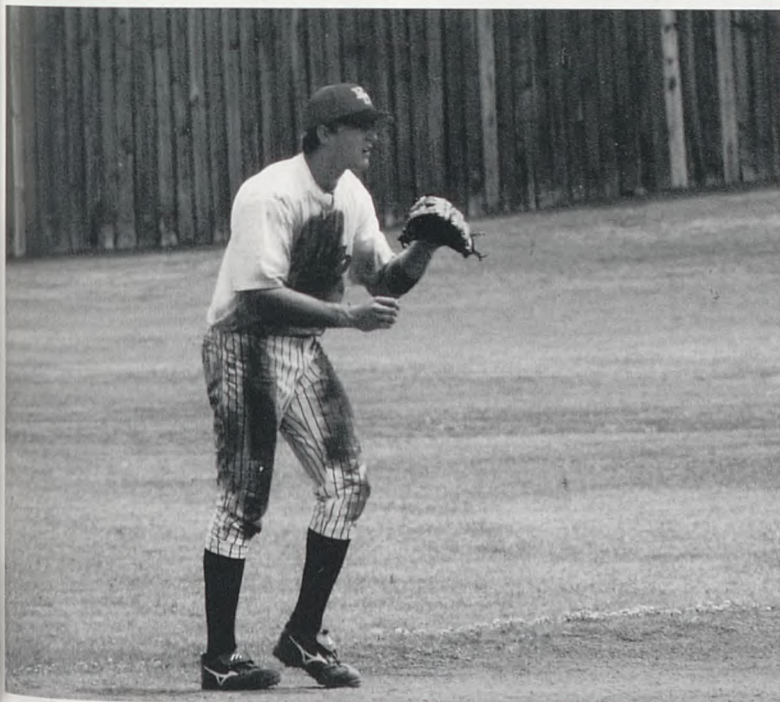

For I know the plans I have for you, declares the lord, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.

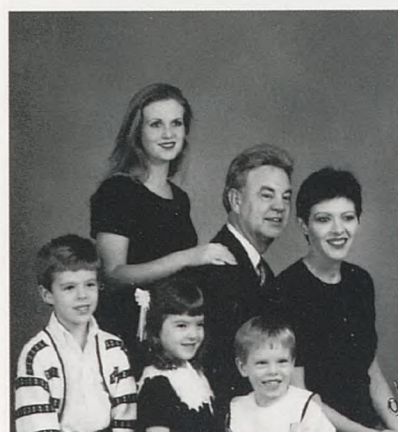

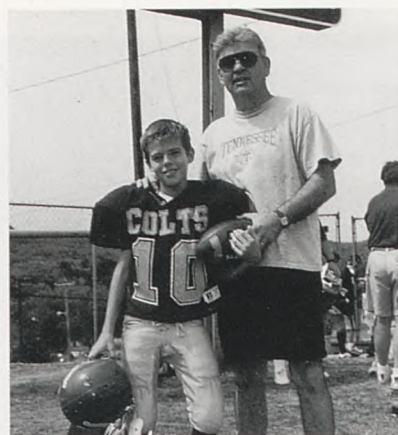

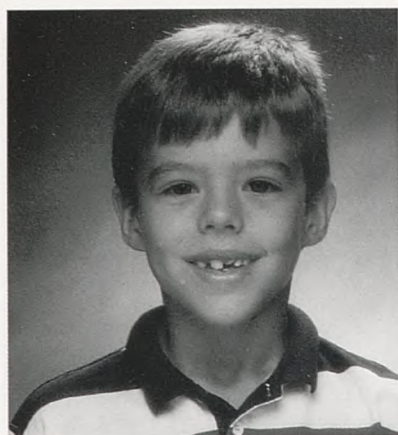

Jeremiah 29:11

We are so very proud of you and all that you stand for!

We love you!

Mom, Dad, and Brian

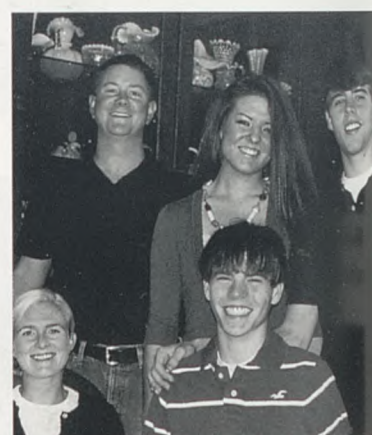

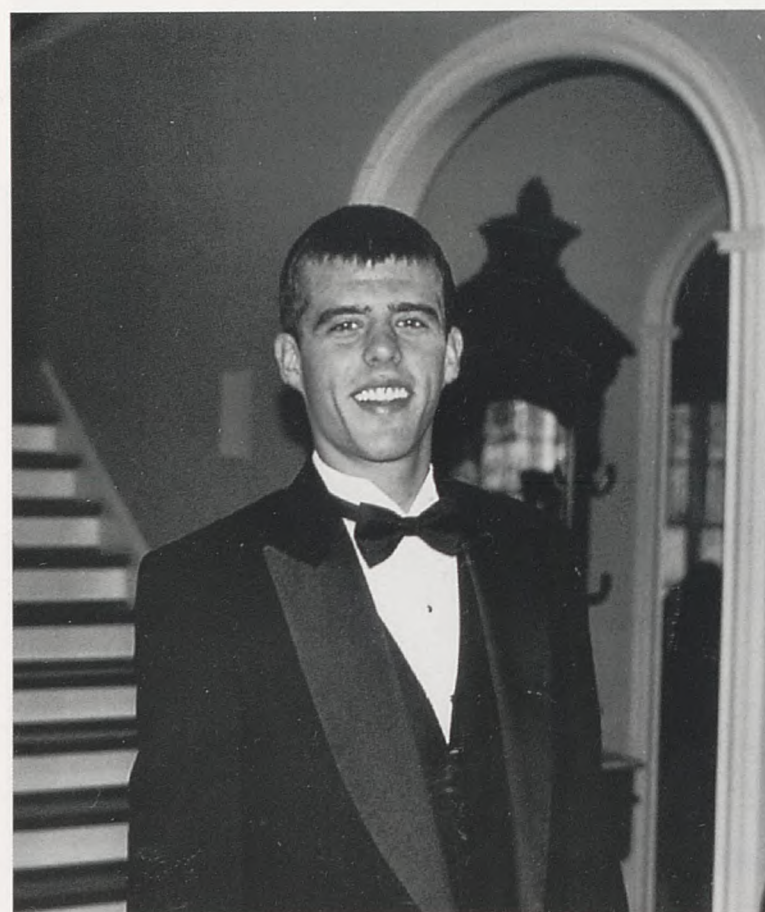

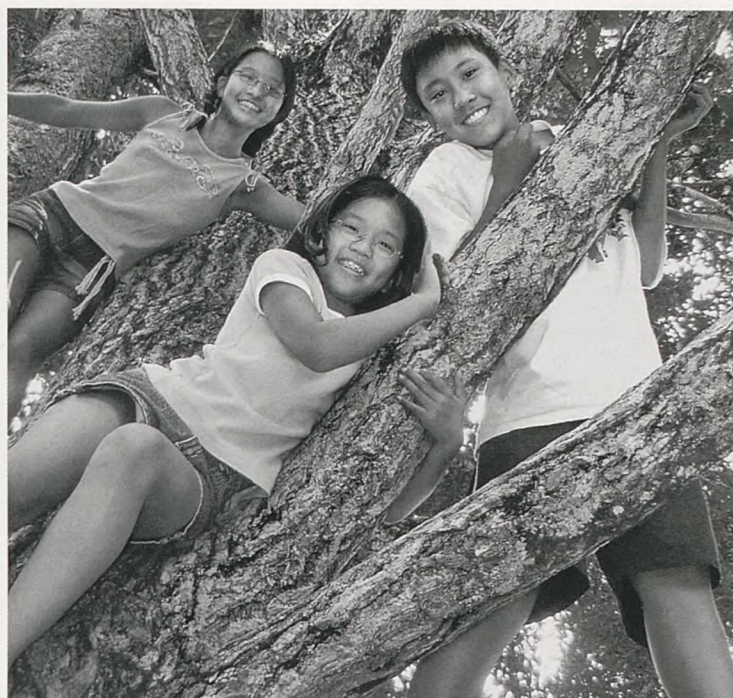

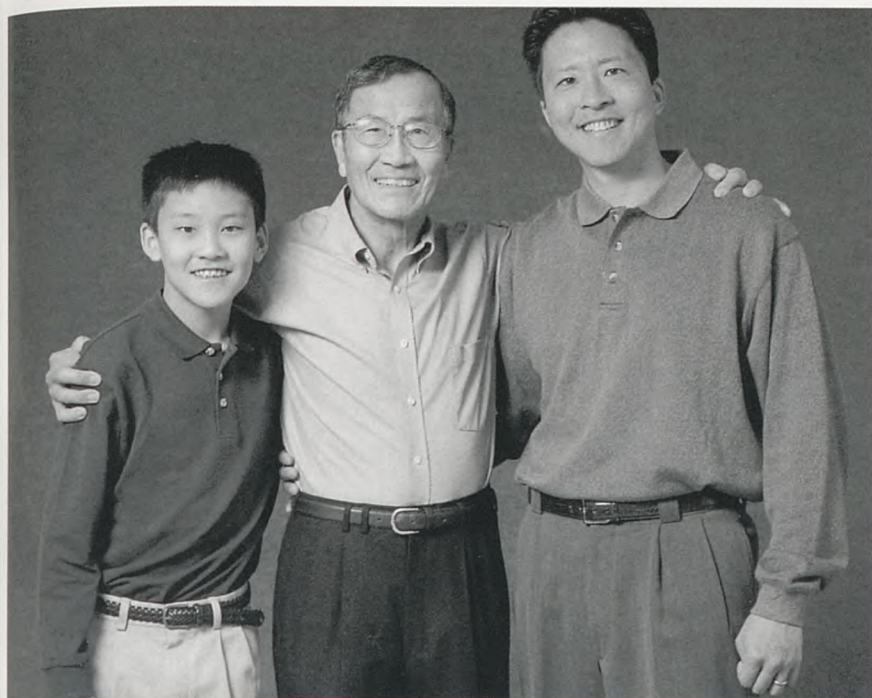

Congratulations, Jonathan!

We love you and are very proud of you. You have been a blessing from God. May you continue your life's journey with his blessings. May your confidence, ambition, and determination guide you through life's next challenge. Enjoy your journey, but remember this--a man's character lives long after the man is gone.

Love,

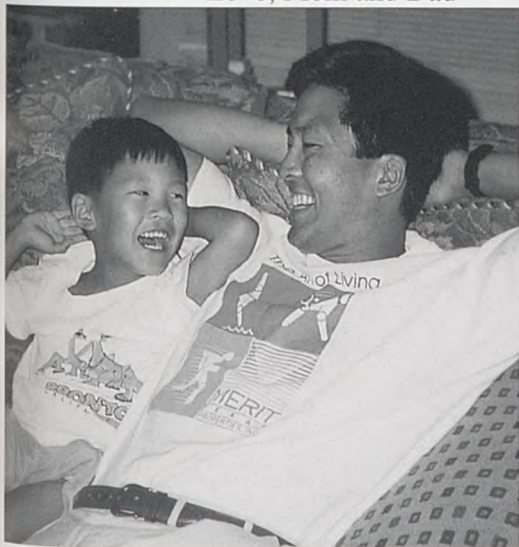

Mom, Dad, Andrea, Elizabeth, and Benjamin

Robert, you've made us so happy. We will always be proud of you.

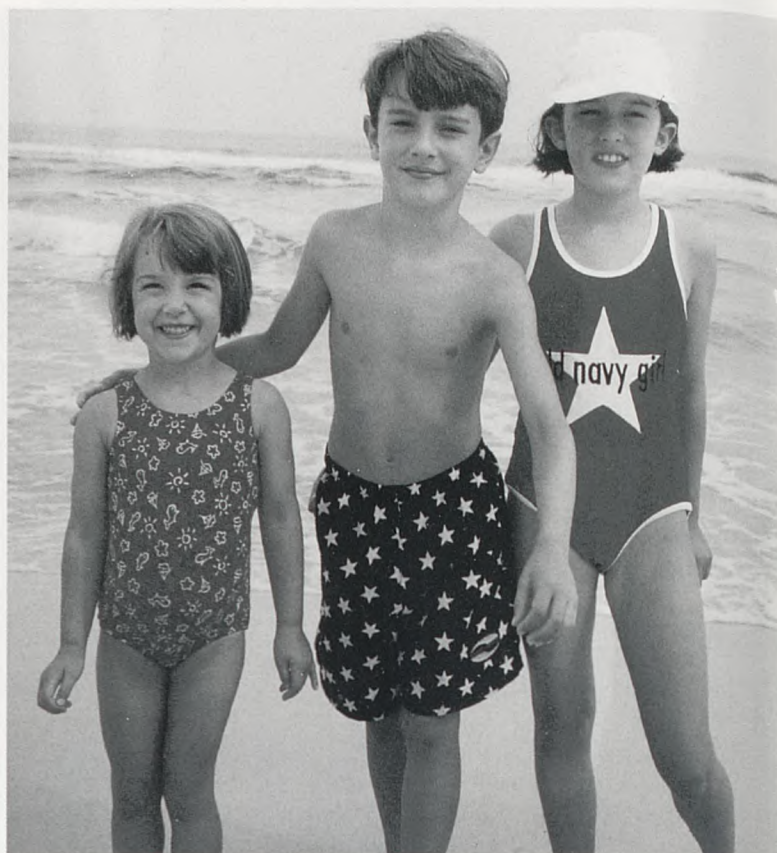

Love, Mom and Dad

We'll miss you, Robert! Thanks for being such an amazing big brother!

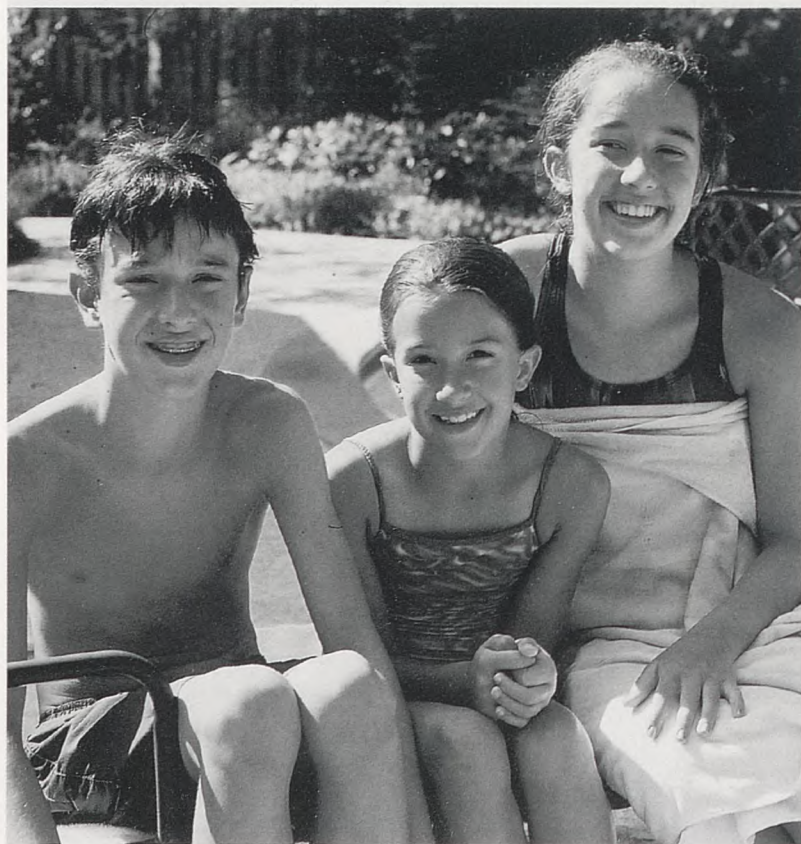

We love you! Caroline and Katie

CONGRATULATIONS, MOREY!

WE LOVE YOU,

"But we have this treasure in jars of clay to show that this all-surpassing power is from God and not from us."
2 Cor 4:7

Congratulations, Clay!

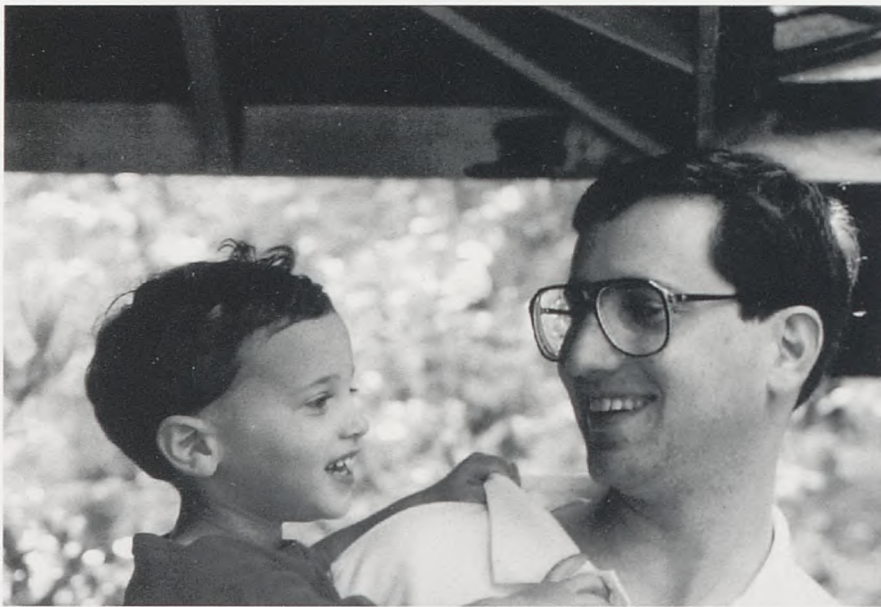

We've treasured every moment with you! We love you and are so proud of you.
Mom, Dad, and Argie

"It has been told you, O man, what is good, and what the Lord does require of you: Only to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God."

Micah 6:8

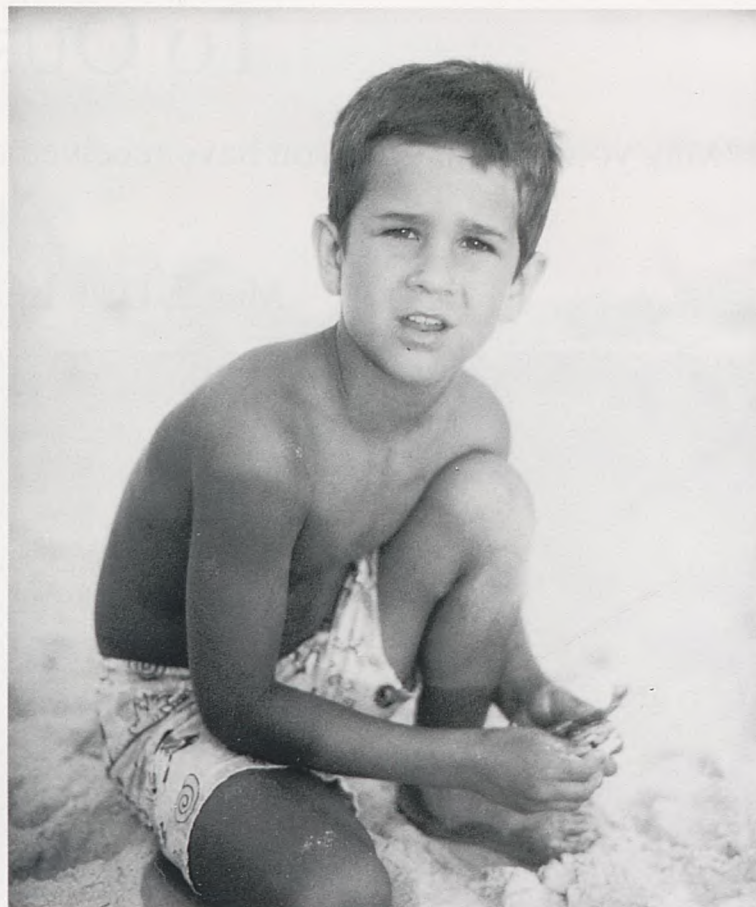

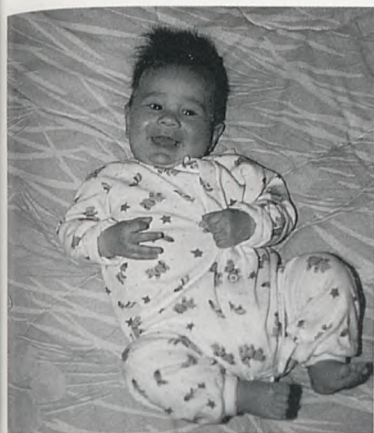

Micah,

You are the embodiment of your namesake's wisdom. We are so proud of you - your character, your kindness, your personality, and your achievements. May you always be blessed with the kind of joy which you have given us.

Congratulations!

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Aaron

Anderson,

Remember, "the heart is not judged by how much you love but by how much you are loved by others." ---The Wizard of Oz

"YOU HAVE EVERY RIGHT TO DREAM HEROIC DREAMS. THOSE WHO SAY THAT WE ARE IN A TIME WHEN THERE ARE NO HEROES JUST DON'T KNOW WHERE TO LOOK." --RONALD REAGAN

WILL, THERE HAVE BEEN HEROES IN YOUR PAST. BUILD ON YOUR ACCOMPLISHMENTS, BUT NEVER STOP DREAMING, AND NEVER STOP LOOKING FOR HEROES.

LOVE,
MOM, DAD, KATIE, AND BREWER

Congratulations, Tyler!

"A son is . . .

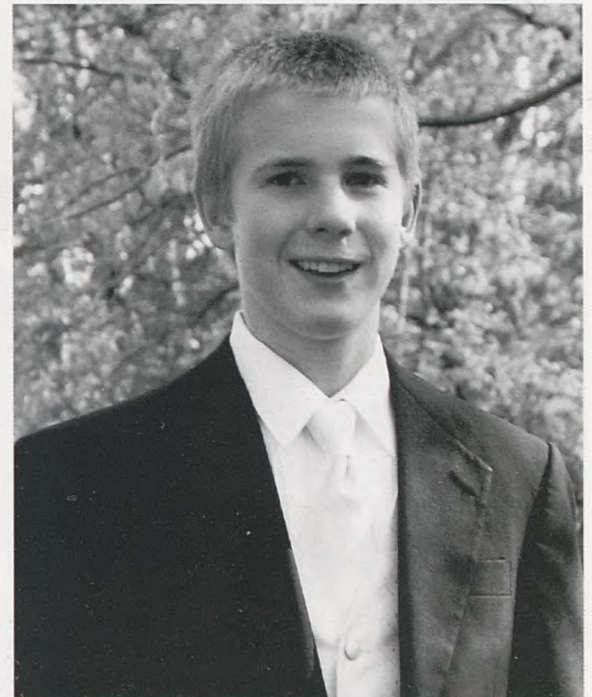

. . . a baby who is wished wondrous love; a child who is wished endless joy; a boy who is wished understanding and ever widening circles of knowledge and friendship.

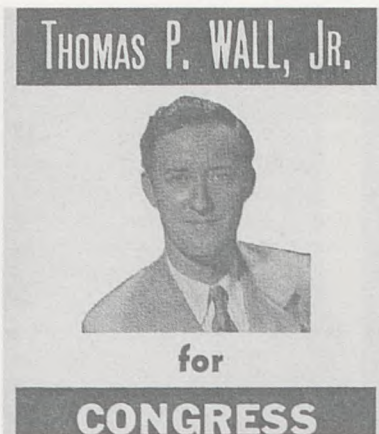

. . . a teenager who is wished strength in any surroundings, courage in every circumstance, and a recognition of the wonders that await his tomorrow.

. . . and a man, with paths to walk, with bridges to cross, with mountains to climb. A son is an amazing combination of all these things, and he's quietly thanked, everyday of his life, for the priceless joy and laughter he brings." --Douglas Pagels

Wishing you all the joy that life can bring and the knowledge that no matter where you are, you will always be deeply loved.

Down every road and path that you travel
May sunshine and happiness surround you.
May you grow to be proud, dignified, and true.
And whatever road you choose,
Be assured that God will always be right there
By your side every step of the way.
And we'll be right behind you.

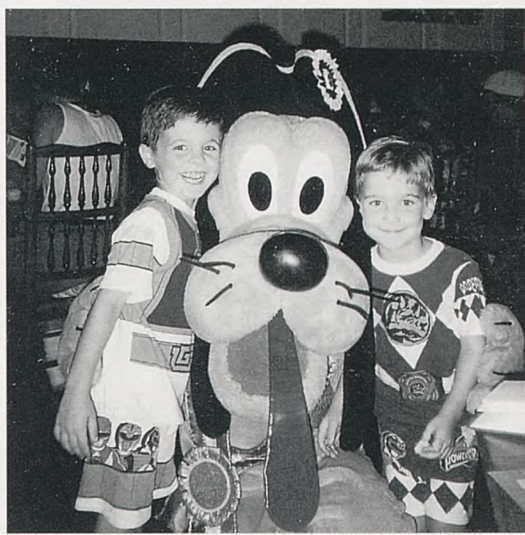

Live simply, Love generously, Care deeply,
Speak kindly, Pray daily,
Always seek the joy in life.

May all your visions be grand,
May all your prayers be answered,
May you be an inspiration to others.
May God's blessings be with you all the days of your life.

We love you very much.
Go forth now and see the world!
